Former Mayor Floyd Honored on Eve of Departure from Princeton

Municipal office-holders who are out of their jobs frequently find that all the farewell parties are more exhausting than those late-night budget meetings.

It will undoubtedly be so with Township Committeeman James A. Floyd, who is resigning from Committee effective November 15, to take a new job in the Cleveland office of his company.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd were the startled guests of honor Sunday at a buffet-reception held at their church, the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church. Over 150 people came—the mayors of both Township and Borough, Republican office-holders and Democratic office-holders, Democratic hopefuls (but no Republican hopefuls, so far as one could tell, except a single incumbent), the police chief and various professionals from the Township staff, to say nothing of friends, old and new, black and white.

Mr. Floyd was philosophical about it all. He has already survived being First Black Township Committeeman, First Democratic Mayor of the Township, and First Black Mayor of the Township. His departure for Cleveland after four years on Committee may even be a "first."

The reception had been advertised in the calendars of local papers and was therefore presumed to be open to the public. The Floyds themselves expected the usual after-church-service coffee.

But Mrs. T. Morgan Harris, president of the Women's Association of Witherspoon church, and Mrs. Floyd's sisters, Mrs. Loretta Seavella and Miss Catherine Reeves, began to build it into a personal, community-wide farewell to the Floyds.

Notices were placed in the Sunday bulletins of Princeton's two other Presbyterian Churches, First Presbyterian and St. Andrews.

The women telephoned Committeemen and Councilmen, former officials who had worked with Mr. Floyd in past years, and personal friends and relatives who might have missed the announcements.

When the Floyds and their younger son, Mike, in from California, walked into the second floor reception room, saw the 20-foot-long table laden with its buffet, abundant as a harvest, and began welcoming such non-Presbyterian, non-Democrat non-Township residents as Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley, they realized there was more here than just coffee.

It was appropriate that such a community-wide party be held in the church. Mrs. Floyd was born into that church, lived next door to it as a girl, sang in the choir, served on the Board of Deacons. When she married Mr. Floyd, she brought him into the fold and he has been an active member of the church ever since.

Incidentally, the minister of the church, the Rev. Floyd N. Rhodes, probably knew fewer people at the party than any guest there: he preached his first sermon there about two months ago.

For the Floyds, it was probably the first party in a series. But former Mayor Floyd grins, tongue in cheek. He and his wife are renting, not selling, their Harris Road house. The ways of promotion in a big manufacturing firm are chancy, and who knows? He may be back.

60 YEARS AGO ON ELECTION DAY: Woodrow Wilson, then Governor of New Jersey and a Princeton resident, votes in the 1912 presidential election, which he won over William Howard Taft and Theodore Roosevelt. Polling place was the Chambers Street Firehouse, headquarters of Mercer Engine Co. No. 3, still used today by Borough voters in District 7.

Low-Key Election Campaign to End Tuesday

Two newcomers on Borough Council no matter how the clock swings, at least one newcomer on Township Committee, chosen from the ballot, and a second newcomer to be appointed after Committeeman James A. Floyd resigns November 15.

That's the Princeton picture as Election Day approaches. Polls will be open next Tuesday, November 7, from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

If you want to know where to vote, turn to page 26. If you aren't sure what district you live in, call 924-3119 for the Borough, 924-5704 for the Township. And if you're not sure whether you live in Borough or Township, it's probably too late for you to vote anyway.

As TOWN TOPICS pointed out last week, it hasn't been a vibrant election campaign. The Borough is losing one Democrat (Robert Hendry) and one Republican (Charles Cornforth). Both decided not to seek third terms on Council. To fill their seats, the Republicans selected John D. [illegible]mikes, an RCA scientist who was chairman of the committee that drafted the new Borough anti-noise ordinance. His running mate is Michael Myers, a stock broker.

Opposing them are the two Democratic candidates, Robert Powe and Barbara Sigmund. Mr. Powe is [illegible] with the [illegible] Center for the Analysis of Public Issues.

Mrs. Sigmund [illegible] American Government and [illegible] Senior School. [illegible]

Beggs, majority leader of the House of Representatives.

Wallace to Retire. Township voters will choose a replacement for John D. Wallace, who decided not to run again. Republicans are offering John Kuser, retired from the chemical marketing business. Dean Chace, who did decide to run again, is seeking election to his second term on Committee.

Democrats have placed in opposition to them Abbot Low Moffat, retired Federal and state government official, and William Sutphin, lawyer with a Newark firm.

Candidates have been ringing doorbells this year more than ever in Princeton's history. There have been fewer weekly stances for the press, viewing with alarm or pledging undying fealty.

But in final statements this week, everybody but the Township Republicans decided to have a last, formal "say."

Search for Federal Funds. Borough Democrats Powe and Sigmund promise to hunt out Federal and state funds to help relieve local property tax burdens and finance needed local programs.

They point to Federal money for the Haddonfield [illegible] bus service and suggest a Princeton mini bus would be eligible for a Federal [illegible] grant. [illegible] with Senator [illegible] Williams to [illegible] turning the Borough to push [illegible] providing more residential units and better policing of streets. They [illegible] study of downtown parking garages and peripheral parking with mini-bus service. They [illegible] total consolidation with the Township on the same grounds [illegible] the Democrat [illegible] would submerge minority interest groups in a much larger population."

In the Township, Democrat Moffat points out that [illegible] the municipality adopts a capital budget each year, it has never prepared a Capital Program. This is a move [illegible] six year program, annually reviewed and projected ahead another year. It offers, Mr. Moffat says, for better financial practices, keeps a town from being penny wise and pound foolish" and allows [illegible] to be rationally [illegible]

Republican doctrine [illegible] to favor conservative pay-as-you-go policy, while Democrats were charged with favoring a spendthrift policy of borrowing for everything. Ironically, for many years the Township has been following the latter policy," he says.

For the average Borough or Township voter the outcome may very well swing with the broader, national swing, [illegible] the absence of sharp local issues. If polls are right and President Nixon sweeps the nation, perhaps all four Republicans will swing in with him. If Princeton, on the other hand, maintains the [illegible] kind of independence for which it is sometimes known, there could be a Democratic sweep.

In fact, whoever [illegible] most votes [illegible]

Hendry Seeks to Oust Blake From Post as Health Offieer

In the wake of his attack last month on Borough Health Officer David Blake, Borough Councilman Robert Hendry warned this week that he is exploring legal ways to get Mr. Blake out of his post.

Mr. Hendry said that when Council meets November 21, he may ask for a "no confidence" vote against Mr Blake, may ask formally for his resignation or may begin by requesting a Council stand in favor of Board of Health merger with the Township.

Meanwhile, Dr J Leonard Moore president of the Borough Board of Health, declared that the board has come to regard Mr. Hendry's view of Mr Blake as "a personal vendetta." And he announced that the Board has asked Mayor Robert W. Cawley to appoint some other Councilman to serve in Mr. Hendry's place as liaison with the Board of Health.

At his weekly press conference, Mayor Cawley pointed out that Mr. Blake has tenure in his Job Furthermore, he is appointed by the Board of Health, not by Council, and legally, Council has no control over the Board of Health which is an autonomous body. No Borough employee can be fired, he explained, without a formal investigation, following established procedures.

The mayor added, however, that he has still not received from Dr. Moore a report on Mr Blake's activities, described by Mr. Hendry as "moonlighting," as health officer for Plainsboro Township. Mr Blake has held the job since September, 1971, and never told the Borough about it, Mr Hendry said.

Inadequate Performance. At the October Borough Council meeting, Mr Hendry revealed Mr Blake's Plainsboro Job. He charged that the health officer was not working hard enough to meet the Borough's own health needs and in particular was not aggressive in seeking state or Federal funds for health programs.

"A Borough official is not acting in the best interests of the community," Mr Hendry said in reply to Dr. Moore's statement. "We are getting short changed by him as a community, and if wanting to replace him and get somebody better is a personal vendetta, then sure!"

Dr Moore, in his formal statement, said Mr Hendry is "totally wrong" when he says "millions of dollars are available" from state and/or Federal governments." He pointed to New Jersey's $35,000 kitty for local boards of health for a limited number of very specific projects."

Mr Hendry explained that he is aware of New Jersey's resources, and has been referring to Federal money. He said he told Borough health board members Dr. Moore included, about a free inspection in Lawrence Township for sickle cell anemia an inspection financed with Federal money.

"Borough health people told me 'We have no problem like that here'" Mr Hendry reported. Sickle cell anemia is an affliction that strikes Black Families.

Lack of Foresight. "In my job I am aware of the amount of Federal funds available for demonstration health programs," Mr Hendry said. He is finance administrator and assistant treasurer of United Hospitals, Newark. He charged the Borough Board of Health as well as Mr Blake with failure to plan ahead.

"Citizens had to organize and raise funds for drug abuse programs, because the health board sidetracked the drug issue," he charged.

Dr. Moore, in his turn charged Mr Hendry with playing partisan politics and having "psychotic antagonism" toward Mr Blake. He said Mr Hendry's charges were a "device to try to force a joint Health Commission with the Township and other neighboring townships."

Criticisms have been more frequent, he commented, since several Democrats were elected to Council. He acknowledged "the mayor's vigorous denials" of partisanship in criticism of Mr. Blake and the health board, but declared he was convinced, nevertheless that the criticisms "are politically oriented."

Mr. Hendry, in reply, recalled the incident last year in which Mr. Blake refused to allow tenants back into a Witherspoon Street apartment-building that had been fire-damaged. Mayor Cawley, with Dr Moore, over-rode Mr Blake's decision to evict the families.

"Mayor Cawley then wrote a strong letter to Dr. Moore, protesting Mr. Blake's insensitivity to the situation," Mr Hendry recalled, "but Dr Moore never showed that letter to the Board of Health until September of this year."

Conflict Charged. It was in September, Mr. Hendry continued, that he learned by chance of Mr. Blake's job in Plainsboro. According to Mr Hendry, Mr. Blake took the job in September, 1971. At that time the Borough still had a contract to provide health services for West Windsor.

That municipality paid the Borough and in return, Mr Blake served part-time for West Windsor. The contract with West Windsor was terminated in June of this year, so that for nine months, Mr. Hendry stated, Mr Blake had three jobs.

"I resent it when Mr. Blake tells us that he does the Plainsboro job on his own time and that it's nobody's business what he does with his own time," Mr Hendry declared. "I call it a 'conflict of motivation'".

Unaware at the time of Mr Blake's Plainsboro job, Mr Hendry said, he proposed to the Board of Health early this fall that a detailed job description be drawn up for Mr Blake, and that the Borough's rental inspections be removed from the engineer's office, and placed under the health officer.

"I wanted to say, 'Look let's be friends and go forward for the good of the Borough.' Then I found out about the moonlighting job."

Countercharges. Dr Moore, commenting on Mr. Hendry's remarks to Board of Health members, said in his statement that Mr Hendry had attended "only two of the last 8 or 10 meetings."

The Councilman, producing a date book, said meetings on budget, police committee, tax reform and Council policy had conflicted with Board of Health dates. He was out of town for six weeks this summer in connection with his job, he added.

"Besides," he continued the Board of Health is a do-nothing committee. I'm not going to attend and listen to statistical reports of inspections or drug reports that have come from other sources."

Dr Moore also protested statements by the two Democratic candidates for Borough Council on inspection of food establishments. Regarding candidates' charges that food handling places were not immediately closed when a violation was found, Dr. Moore pointed out that in the past decade several establishments have been closed "usually only because of very serious defects."

Most food establishments are opened not closed, he explained "because many persons would be unnecessarily harmed by closure." The ratings "A" "B" "C", he admitted are frequently not posted by stores or restaurants but there is no penalty if they aren't.

JAMES FLOYD AND FRIENDS: More than 150 people stopped by the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church Sunday with "bon voyage" wishes for James A. That's Mr. and Mrs. Floyd at the buffet table.

TWO CARS TOTALED

In Quaker Road Crash Two 1972 cars were totaled Saturday afternoon when they collided in the rain on a Quaker Road curve, a quarter mile from Mercer Road.

Benjamin R. Britt 3d, 21, of 71 Rattle Road, who was ticketed for careless driving, sustained a contusion of the left arm. The other driver, Miss Willie Washington, 27, of Hightstown received lacerations and contusions of the lower lip. Paula Tsarides, 37, 10 Bayard Lane, a passenger in the Washington car, was treated at the Princeton Medical Center for a whiplash.

Mr. Britt told Pfc. Rena Kamnski that he was rounding a curve at about 35 mph when his car went into a skid and into the path of the Washington car coming the other way.

A single car accident in Saturday's rain took place at 11 a.m., on Route 206 some 300 feet south of Ewing Street. Donald C. Stahlke, 18, 2 Hathaway Drive, Princeton Junction, attempting to pass another car, started to skid. His 1968 convertible went off the side of the road, struck a tree and was adjudged a total loss.

Mr. Stahlke was admitted to the Medical Center suffering from a broken nose, a severe laceration of the lip and chin, contusions of the face and breastbone. He lost several teeth in the impact. Pfc. Howard Sweeney ticketed him for driving too fast for conditions.

Still another accident traceable to Saturday's slippery road conditions took place at Elm and Stockton. No one was hurt but the results were dramatic.

When the apparently wet brakes of a small foreign car driven by Donna J. Howell, 23, of Lambertville, failed to stop her car at the foot of Elm, it skidded into the middle of the intersection into the path of a truck loaded with hay coming on Stockton.

The truck driver, Larry W. Dennis, 23, of Trenton, swerved to the right to avoid hitting the Howell car broadside. It hit the left rear of the car, spinning it around and pushing it 35 feet over the Stockton Street curb.

Bohen First to Seek House Seat From Here in More Than 30 Years

The Princeton community's first Congressional candidate in more than three decades will be on Tuesday's ballot.

Frederick M. Bohen, 128 Fitzrandolph Road, is on the Democratic ticket for the seat in Congress now held by Republican Peter H.B. Frelinghuysen. Both are running in a newly-created Fifth Congressional District, which includes not only the two Princetons but towns as far apart as West Windsor and a pair of communities in upper Essex County. Mr. Frelinghuysen lives in Morristown.

Four years ago, attorney Sidney Souter, who has law offices in Princeton, ran for Congress, but he is a resident of Lawrence Township. The last Princetonian to run for Congress was Melville P. Dickenson, a Republican who was defeated in a bid for election in 1937.

Mr. Bohen is assistant to the president of the Ford Foundation and was a White House aide to President Lyndon B. Johnson. He was formerly assistant dean of the Woodrow Wilson School of Princeton University. Mr. Bohen's wife, Haley, is assistant dean of students at the University, and his mother-in-law, Ione Harger of Hunterdon County, was an unsuccessful candidate last year for the New Jersey State Assembly.

Research by Common Cause, the national citizens' group, showed this week that in the period ending August 31, Mr. Bohen had received $19,961 from campaign contributors and Mr. Frelinghuysen $1,125. All Bohen money was raised after the April 7 legal deadline for naming contributors. Of the Frelinghuysen contributions, $1,500 was received before the date.

All but $2,000 of Mr. Bohen's contributions were from New Jersey residents. They include Mr. and Mrs. Ansley Coale ($350) and Mrs. Anne Martindell ($400), both of Princeton.

The only Frelinghuysen Princeton contributor is Richard Dilworth ($250).

The truck, meantime, owned by the Totten Hay Co., of Yardville, caught a guide wire of a telephone pole, pushing the pole over on a 45 degree angle. When the fully loaded truck struck the wire, the load shifted and about 100 bales of hay spilled onto the roadway, blocking Stockton. It was raining heavily at the time of the mishap, 10:25 a.m.

Mrs. Howell was ticketed by Ptl. William Hunter for failing to stop. He had the car's brakes inspected and they seemed to be in working order, Ptl. Hunter wrote in his report.

University Cyclist Hurt. A Princeton University student was injured Wednesday evening when his bicycle ran into the side of a car turning off Nassau into a driveway at 195.

Stephen F. Smalia, 20, 1939 Hall, was treated at the Medical Center for lacerations of the mouth which required sutures (he lost a tooth), contusions and abrasions of the face. He was released and then admitted to the University Infirmary.

Mr. Smalia was thrown from his bike and his face struck the windshield of a car driven by John W. Claghorn, 22, of 13 Vandeventer Avenue. He ended up on the hood of the car on his back. He was ticketed by Ptl. Hunter for riding a bicycle at night without lights.

October's earliest snow on record has been followed by more abnormally low temperatures. The month produced a deficit total in degree readings of about 150, making the average day about five degrees less than it should have been.

Cloudy skies and occasional rain are the forecast at least into Friday. The weekend may not be much better, the Man said, obviously somewhat downhearted about it all.

LET'S TALK TAXES

Seminary Is First. "Now, what about those tax-exempt properties?" The first of the Borough's invitational meetings with various educational institutions to talk about tax exempt properties, is scheduled to be held this Wednesday with Princeton Theological Seminary, announced Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley this week.

No date has been set for a meeting with Princeton University, although the Borough has received a formal reply from the University agreeing to such a meeting, the mayor said.

Last month, Mayor Cawley and and Borough Council sent

John P. Dismukes & Michael J. Myers
For Borough Council

THE TWO MOST QUALIFIED CANDIDATES
WITH THE MORE MATURE PLANS FOR PRINCETON

JOHN P. DISMUKES

John Dismukes, 38, has demonstrated leadership and concern for Princeton's people through years of outstanding community service. A research leader at RCA's David Sarnoff facility, John served Princeton well as president of the Jaycees. He was Mercer County Chairman of the Fresh Air Fund, founder of the National Jaycee Summer for Kids and now represents Youth Employment Service on the Youth Concerns Committee. Most recently, he headed up the committee on noise control which drafted the ordinance adopted by your Borough Council this fall. He's done a lot of other things for our community, things that establish him as a true leader. John Dismukes did all these things and much more, for his community, because he cares. Now you have the chance to put him to work for you as a member of Borough Council. We urge you to do just that.

MICHAEL J. MYERS

Mike Myers is an example of how part time municipal government can be strong. He's an expert on financial planning and budgeting and comes to you when Borough Council is losing its two experts in this area. Mike is also a lawyer and will be able to unravel complex tax and zoning questions for your community. At 32, a Vice President of the Smith Barney Capital Corp., Mike's job is to analyze corporate budgets for a number of companies for which he serves as a member of their Board of Directors. Tough financial work is what he knows and does best. But Mike does a lot of other things too, including, with his running mate, spending literally hundreds of hours this fall listening and talking to Borough residents. He's much more than a financial expert. He cares for our community. Put this man to work for you on Borough Council.

HOW THE DISMUKES — MYERS TEAM STANDS ON THE ISSUES
THEIR PLANS FOR OUR COMMUNITY'S FUTURE . . .

Consolidation. The candidates favor a study of the consolidation question, including all constructive alternatives, and are determined to see many pressing questions answered before they could support this proposal. Three of the most immediate concerns Dismukes and Myers have on consolidation are: a fair Borough tax rate; how to preserve the Borough's unique character; and a strong voice in Government for all Borough citizens.

Trash Disposal and Recycling. Dismukes and Myers have shown that thousands of dollars can be saved annually by the Borough's establishing its own trash disposal system, instead of contracting this service out, as is presently done. Your day-to-day service would improve under this system, too. The candidates see the recycling effort as a stride in the right direction.

Drug Abuse. Dismukes and Myers are on record supporting establishment of the Corner House facility and have worked to gain fuller community understanding of this dreadful problem. They support stronger law enforcement, especially in checking the flow of drugs in the community.

Downtown Development. The orderly development of downtown Princeton is a prime concern to the candidates. Dismukes and Myers have called for strong emphasis in making downtown a 24-hour-a-day area including residential units, as well as innovative architectural steps which will attract residents during leisure hours. Since the tax ratable base will thus be increased, the planned development of downtown can be accomplished without a heavy tax burden. Constructive leadership in this area will also help preserve the Borough's residential land area and protect the quality of neighborhood life.

Traffic Control and Safety. More enforcement of Borough speeding ordinances is a prime goal of Dismukes and Myers. They also urge more four way stop signs at some existing unsafe residential intersections. To cut down auto congestion in the downtown area, they would explore the feasibility of peripheral parking with minibus service and bicycle paths.

Fiscal Planning. The candidates want to place tighter controls on spending, noting that the per capital cost of our local government is three times higher than the median in comparable New Jersey communities. With the Borough's school population leveling off and with 500 West Windsorites due to leave the Princeton system in the near future, savings should be realized in school costs. Dismukes and Myers also want to see more negotiations with the University on elimination of the tax-exempt property. Total tax exempt property presently is 65% of the Borough total.

Noise Control. Dismukes and Myers supported the ordinance enacted this fall which strengthens controls on noise annoyance in our community. Calling this a problem which, if unchecked could plague us in years ahead, the candidates view the new law as both fair and responsive. Through this ordinance they will press for controls on noisy truck traffic during night hours.

Communications. The candidates sent a questionnaire to all voters registered in the Borough last June and received responses from 10% of the community. They have advocated continuing this practice and the establishment of regular, publicized office hours for Council members. They would continue periodic walking tours, if elected. Dismukes and Myers also propose establishment of recorder-phone for residents' use in leaving word of problems with government officials.

out letters asking for tax interviews with the town's three biggest educational institutions. Westminster Choir College, the third, has yet to be heard from.

The Borough is concerned about the sizeable amount of tax-free property owned by these three giants. Each makes a contribution to the Borough but municipal officials think the question should be renegotiated.

IDA?

Discussion Date Not Set. Legal communications from the pro's and con's of the Institute for Defense Analyses' proposed new building in Princeton Township have delayed Township Committee's decision on setting a date for a special IDA hearing.

Members of the Citizens in Search of Peace have asked Committee to hear their case against IDA on November 20. They have presented to Committee a letter from their counsel, Michael B. Standard, arguing that since IDA's work is secret, there is no way of knowing whether the Institute is engaged in a permitted or a prohibited use under the Township's zoning ordinance.

A.C. Reeves Hicks, attorney for IDA, has also written to Committee. His view is said to be that IDA needed no zoning variances and has passed the site plan review board and is therefore legally entitled to put up its building. IDA has not yet applied for a building permit.

After an executive meeting Monday night Committee decided to submit the two letters to its own counsel, Gordon Griffin, for an opinion before inviting the Citizens in Search of Peace to a hearing.

ELECTRICAL IRON SHORTS

Firemen Stand By. In an unusual twist, water almost caused a fire Tuesday afternoon at the Culligan Nassau Water Conditioning Co. at 315 Witherspoon Street.

Around 5, a pipe sprang a leak, sending water jetting over an electric box causing it to short out, and filling the building with smoke.

Fortunately it never developed into a fire, but Princeton's volunteer firemen were summoned to stand by because of the potential danger of chemicals stored in the building igniting and exploding.

Public Service turned off power to the building while repairmen fixed the damaged box.

$18,411 FOR BOROUGH

Under Revenue Sharing. The Borough will get $18,411 under new Federal revenue sharing policies and already dozens of people have ideas about how it should be used.

The Township doesn't know yet how much it will receive. Administrator Joseph H. Nimmo pointed out this week that townships come last in any governmental tallies. The 1970 Township census figures, for example, were released long after those for New Jersey's boroughs were known.

Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley explained that half the money will be received now, and half early next year. The allocation formula is complex, involving a town's population and its "tax effort"; that is, how well and efficiently it spends existing tax monies. New Jersey has 566 municipalities and the Borough ranks 500 the mayor said. (Number One is the worst, 565 the best.)

Mercer County as a whole will receive $5 million. Of this amount, Trenton will get $1.9 million and the rest of the county $1.6 million.

What to do with it all? Taxpayers want it used as a damper to hold down taxes, the mayor commented, but every interest group (including Borough officials themselves) has ideas about how the money could be spent. The mayor said it cannot be used for education.

Mayor and Council will make the decision, possibly after consultation with the Township, Mayor Cawley said.

GOOD THINGS TO EAT AT HOLIDAY GOURMET: Mrs. William A. Schreyer, chairman of the Sip and Snack Bar, and Mrs. C. R. P. Rodgers Jr. co-chairman of the Holiday Gourmet, have gathered together a tempting array of gourmet specialties made by men and women in the Princeton area for sale at the Christmas Boutique, sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of Princeton Hospital. Wheels of Vermont cheddar cheese will be available for the first time in whole or positions.

4th Graders Ready for Election

Snuggling down into the election returns next Tuesday evening will be the 35 guests at the town's most unusual slumber — who said "slumber!" — party.

The 35 are the fourth grade Riverside School students of Mrs. Norma Gumbiner and Mrs. Charlotte Danielson. They are going to lug sleeping bags into the Gumbiner's capacious basement. Two working television sets and a third that doesn't work too well, will provide the returns. The basement is expected to be humming until midnight, and quite possibly thereafter also.

In true Princeton tradition, the fourth-graders themselves formed Citizens Committees: one for providing sleeping bags; one for popcorn; one for carpool; one for breakfast Wednesday morning at school; one for games.

Games? Yes. There's an election one, like Monopoly, only you get electoral votes. Much too complex for adults.

Since September, it's been election in this fourth grade: reading papers, clipping current events, setting up their own Learning Centers on past presidents, investigating even the local election ("they find it dull," reports Mrs. Gumbiner.)

They have examined the ballot in detail. They are the only people in town, according to Mrs. Gumbiner, who know who Paul Krebs is. (A recent New York Times survey found that 95% of New Jersey's voters had never heard of him. He is opposing Senator Clifford Case, on the Democratic ticket.)

They know how many votes Nixon and McGovern have to get to win. They know how pivotal the late returns from California can be (besides, you get to stay up later to find out about California.)

They will watch the returns Tuesday night with tally sheets and pencils in hand (provided by a Citizens Committee).

They've read the polls, they have taken their own. In math, they were doing graphs on the two Presidential candidates' chances.

Do they echo what they've heard at home?

"I've seen kids change their minds after a discussion in class, but they go ahead and cast their vote, for Nixon or McGovern, regardless of how they changed their minds!" Mrs. Gumbiner laughs.

So Election Night will be nerve-center night in the Gumbiner basement, each TV set tuned to a different station, each of the 35 computers programmed to go. Only one thing may have been overlooked.

"Hey," said Mr. Gumbiner, "what about me?"

December 6.

The arrest took place shortly before midnight. Maddox has been charged with possession of under 25 grams.

Youth Assaulted. Chief Michael Carnevale reports that a 14-year-old Princeton High School student was assaulted Friday evening at 8:30 on the corner of Nassau and Witherspoon Streets. It was the second such assault of a student at the same location in two weeks.

Chief Carnevale added that no money was taken from the victim and there was no reason for the attack. The assailants were described as men in their 20s.

13-Year-Old Arrested. A 13-year-old PHS student was charged with the theft of a car Friday by Borough juvenile officer Douglas Watson. He is a resident of West Windsor.

According to police, the car was stolen last Monday in West Windsor. The following day, Pfc. Kerry Klink stopped the car on Houghton Street but the driver fled on foot and managed to elude the officer inside the high school.

TV SET STOLEN

From Moore St. Home. A color television set valued at $350 was stolen Sunday from the home of the Rev. William Kight, 261 Moore Street.

The Rev. Mr. Kight, a street worker among the community's youth, told Township police that he had left at 6 p.m., and returned four hours later. According to Pfc. David Funk, who investigated, a screen had been pried from a window on the side of the house to enter. Nothing else was taken.

ZONERS OK EXPANSION

Of Bell Tel Switching Bldg. The Borough Zoning Board last week granted a conditional authorization to permit the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. to add a 56-foot addition to its switching building at 300 Nassau Street. Erected in 1926, the masonry brick building, the only building located on the 921 and 923 Nassau Street numbers.

Paul Morozoff, a planning engineer for Bell Tel, told the zoning board that the building was handling about 12,850 subscribers. The company has the existing equipment for 14,480, which said the company estimates will be exhausted in October 1974. We are projecting 18,600 subscribers by 1982," he stated.

Board member Charles St. John pointed out to Mr. Morozoff that the telephone company had appeared before the board in 1969 requesting an addition for the same reason. "We were told at the time that the proposed addition would be adequate for 15 years. Now you're back within three."

"Obviously," replied Mr. Morozoff, "the need for additional equipment has come a lot sooner than expected." When board member Norman Williams pointed out that the number of building permits issued in Princeton would indicate that the community was not growing as fast as Mr. Morozoff's projections, Mr. Morozoff commented that the number of telephones alone does not require new equipment but usage as well. "New Jersey residents are the highest users of telephones in the country," he said.

The board stipulated that approval that any outside lighting would have to be a

McCarter Repertory Is Back but "Agamemnon" Is Given Performance That Is Heavily Flawed

One great thing about first-rate actors in a play by a talented writer is that the resulting production, even when flawed, is sure to be studded with rewarding moments: flashes of brilliance, of emotional excitement, of wit. And if what happens on stage is not sustainedly interesting, there is always the interesting business of trying to figure out why it wasn't.

There seems little doubt that the opening production of the reconstituted McCarter Theatre Company's new repertory season last Thursday — a world premiere of William Alfred's modern version of "Agamemnon"—was flawed. But some of the acting was so good, some of the writing so engaging, the setting by John Conklin so impressive, that your reviewer does not hesitate to recommend this "Agamemnon" to anyone who cares enough about theatre to enjoy not just smashing successes but ambitious tries that don't quite make it. We would stop short of urging it on the theatergoer who simply wants a good, lively time and has no desire to play What Went Wrong?

For What Went Wrong? was the game many friends of McCarter were playing after this much-heralded opening. How could so much talent and money and time (McCarter repertory was suspended for a year to prepare for this new season) produce so flawed a performance?

Before attempting to dissect the flaws, we would note that theatregoers play What Went Wrong? a lot, because no amount of talent, money and time ever guarantees success in anybody's theatre. The best and most experienced producers have their failures. One had hoped that the new McCarter program put together by Prof. Daniel Seltzer of Princeton's English department, and under the artistic direction of Louis Criss, would go up like a rocket. But to love the theatre is to love unpredictability. True theatre buffs are forgiving and have short memories.

William McCleery, who will review McCarter Theatre's repertory season for Town Topics, has written ten plays that have been professionally produced, two of them on Broadway. He teaches a Playwriting Workshop in Princeton's Program in Creative Writing and Theatre. He has held editorial positions with The Associated Press, Life, PM, Ladies' Home Journal, and is now Editor of UNIVERSITY: A Princeton Quarterly.

FROM "AGAMEMNON." Aegisthus, played by Clifford David, comforts Clytemnestra (Nan Martin) in this scene from the William Alfred adaptation of the "Agamemnon" at McCarter.

Too Impersonal The central flaw of this "Agamemnon" is that it does not come to life, except fitfully. We are not forced or even allowed to lose ourselves in the agonies of the characters except momentarily, nor to forget except momentarily that they are actors and that the author is teaching us a lesson or preaching us a sermon.

A clue to heavy going ahead was provided by the director, Hovhannes I. Pilikian, in his program note describing this as a play "dealing with the complex social, political, and sexual problems of life in a civilized state which is also militarily and economically a leading world power trapped in a disastrous war." A director who sees his play in those vast impersonal terms will pretty surely have trouble getting it off the ground.

But though much of what was off putting about this production could be blamed on the director — whose artistic differences with Messrs. Seltzer and Criss led to his becoming ex-director shortly before opening night — the real fault lay deeper, in the play itself. Prof. William Alfred of Harvard wrote the off-Broadway hit "Hogan's Goat" and is a talented writer, but he does not display here the powerful poetic gifts required to bring Agamemnon to life, particularly for an audience that has had some experience of the Gilbert Murray translation of Aeschylus, and many of whom could recall, as this reviewer did, beautiful, moving passages from the translation by Prof. Robert Fagles of Princeton performed at McCarter in the fall of 1966.

All right, that leaves a potential audience of millions for a new "Agamemnon," and one must try to see the Alfred version as if one had never heard of Aeschylus — whose name does not appear in the program.

Hampered by Limitations But if Alfred did not base his play on Aeschylus he let himself be hampered as a dramatist by the dramatic limitations of the story as Aeschylus told it, that is, with nearly all of the significant dramatic action taking place off stage.

The story has three main actions: (1) Agamemnon murders his daughter, trading her life for a favor from the gods that will bring him military success against Troy. (2) His wife Clytemnestra finds out what he has done, despite the politicians' efforts to keep her ignorant. (3) When he returns victorious from Troy with Cassandra, the Trojan prin cess, as his mistress, she kills them both.

In Aeschylus and Alfred, actions (1) and (3) take place offstage. For this and other reasons the author has a great deal of time to spend otherwise than in advancing his story. So it is not a good story to attempt unless the author can create characters that are fascinating, complex, larger than life; and they must be made so by the quality of their minds and hearts revealed in the language they use and the way they comport themselves.

But Mr. Alfred has written, for the most part, little people who say little things; and someone has compounded the error by putting them in modern dress and directing them in such a way that — except for Nan Martin's sometimes impressive Clytemnestra — it is their ordinariness that is accentuated. They come through not as larger but as smaller than life. Not only not king-size but often not even interestingly man-size.

A Hollow General. The error is most telling in Agamemnon himself, who, though dressed as a high U.S. general, has been directed to speak and carry on with none of the control, dignity, or intelligence of a formidable leader. In his avowed effort to write an anti-war play, Alfred has given us an oafish general. He may have supposed that the anti-war passions of today's audiences would flow into this hollow, Pentagonal general, and bring him to life. But that is not how characters are brought to life in serious drama. Dolph Sweet is said to be a fine actor, but his Agamemnon gets on one's nerves without getting under one's skin.

He was not helped by having to play all of his scenes with a Cassandra who, as written, and as played by Cara Duff-MacCormick, lacked the quality of a Trojan princess. Again, too little control and dignity.

There was poignancy in Jerome Dempsey's decent Regent whose son died at Troy: Karl Light was suave as the slippery chief Regent; and other performances had telling moments.

Great things can confidently be expected of a program that brings together actors of this quality, and we look forward to the second play of the series, Sam Shepard's "The Tooth of Crime." We congratulate Dan Seltzer on having this opening behind him, and offer a comforting word from the Murray "Agamemnon": "Who but a god goes wound less all the way?"

NEXT

"The Tooth of Crime." A rock star of the 1960s whose life-style becomes threatened by a younger life-style, dominates "The Tooth of Crime," second in McCarter's season of repertory offerings.

It will open a two-week run next Thursday, November 9. "Agamemnon" will close its run this Sunday.

"The Tooth of Crime" is by Sam Shepard, the 29-year-old who has been called "the most important living American playwright" by The Village Voice, and critics of various newspapers in England.

English critics spoke in favor of "The Tooth of Crime" after its London premiere in July. The Daily Mail critic wrote of the play, "Seldom have I seen the complex roots of revolution more inventively discussed."

For the McCarter presentation — the play's U.S. premieres — director Louis Criss has Frank Langella as Hoss, the rock-music star. Gloria Maddox has the role of Becky, his girl-friend.

Others in the cast are Clearence Felder, who appeared in McCarter repertory several years ago, Gray Gage, Dale Helward, Mark Metcalf, William Myers and John Scanlan.

Hansberry Opens Its Season

"A father I hated all my [illegible]," a black father who cannot communicate with his children because of the white fa[illegible]s that come between them, dominate[s] [illegible] family's even [illegible] in the Ron Milner play "Who's Got His Own," now at the Princeton Youth Center.

The play [illegible] opens [illegible] Center. Hansberry Art W[orks]h[o]p will play again th[is] Fr[iday] and Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

[illegible]

The sister Clara [illegible] [Jean]ette Yeager [illegible] hand [illegible] man [illegible] away from her own chairc[illegible] [illegible] seeking escape.

[illegible] grieving mother Sharon Brown [illegible] respect and understanding for the dead father while on [illegible] the [illegible] John Conn[illegible], but [illegible] played by Conn[illegible] Mark McKithen [illegible] children.

[It is] not until the end of the play that the mother reveals to her son and daughter the scene of horror which the father had witnessed as a child, the indescribable white brutality against his own father that scared his soul for life.

The brother begins tentatively talking to the sister of the days when they were kids, when they were close, and [illegible] the three survivors of the father's own pain, begin to come together.

Faced with a play like "Who's Got His Own," the director has a tough problem, and Terry Steaple copes with it competently. The trouble [is] all that off stage action.

"Who's Got His Own" is full of vivid and dramatic incidents: the daughter's abortive affair with a white boy and the con[descending] treatment she receives from the liberal white church, the time the father almost killed the mother, the [illegible] false friendship of the son with a white man and its violent climax and, of course, the pivotal incident of the play, the torture and murder of the grandfather.

But all of it happens in another time and place. This means a series of monologues as one member of the family after another describes "what happened to me." Such a play is almost static because stage business has to be kept at a minimum — which Mr. Steaple has done so that audience attention will be directed to the actor.

In [th]e cast Mr. Steaple has a [illegible] performer in Sharon Brown. So[illegible] and quiet and good [as] the mother, s[he] [illegible] the dignity and [illegible] that [show] us how this woman managed to survive the years. Miss Brown, a student at the University, has exceptional [illegible] [illegible] young actor [illegible] [illegible]

Mr. A[illegible] and Miss Yeager [illegible] the University [illegible] [illegible] and Mr. [illegible] a [illegible] gentle Bes[illegible]

D[illegible] has [illegible] the [illegible] Youth Center [sta]ge for a [illegible] room leaving plenty of room for actors to maneuver. Terr[illegible] A[illegible] planned the [illegible] for the cast. Light[s] by W[illegible] W[illegible] and [illegible] by Larry Watkins. Carl Richardson served as assistant director and Gwendolyn Fo[illegible] and Stephanie Gate[s] [as] stage manager.

"Who's Got His Own" may be long on talk and short on action but Mr. Milner and Mr. Steaple manage to speak to a very human condition, and to a sometimes tragic gap in understanding between the generations that is universal.

"EAST LYNNE" IS NEXT At Stuart School. The 98 year old melodrama, "East Lynne or Lady Isabel's Shame," will be presented November 10 and 11 by the Drama Club of the Stuart School. As far as is known this is the first time "East Lynne" has played Princeton. Monroe Wade is directing the production, using the Brian J. Burton version, one of 16 or more versions said to have been written and licensed for public performance. Elizabeth Mulligan, director of music at the school, is in charge of the entr'acte songs of the 1800's to be presented by the glee club.

He will sing songs by Mozart, Schubert, Wolf, Faure, Boito's "Mefistofele."

In the specialized field of song recital Thomas Paul has been called a "thoroughbred among bassos." Mr. Paul had an early all-around musical training, including violin, viola and, as a graduate student, in conducting at the Juilliard School of Music. As a singer he made his debut in 1961 at Carnegie Hall in Handel's "Belshazzar."

During his seven seasons with the New York City Opera Company, Mr. Paul has portrayed, among others, Figaro, Boris Godunov, Colline, Sparafucile and the title role in Boito's "Mefistofele."

During recent seasons, he has sung with the symphonies of New York, Boston, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Atlanta, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Toronto, Minnesota and Cleveland.

FROM RUSSIA

Slobodyanik Coming. Compositions from the romantic and the contemporary eras will be featured by the Soviet pianist Alexander Slobodyanik when he appears in McCarter on Monday, November 13, at 8:30.

His program will open with Shostakovich's "Prelude and Fugue in D Minor," followed by the Schumann "Etudes Symphoniques". Following intermission, he will play Chopin's "Fantasie in F Minor," Liszt's "La Campanella" and "A Wild Hunt" and the Stravinsky "Petrouchka" suite.

FOLK-ROCK

Preston, Taj Mahal. Billy Preston and Taj Mahal will [illegible] Alexander Hall Saturday, November 11, when they give a pair of shows, one at 8 p.m. and one at 11. Tickets are on sale at McCarter Theatre's box office.

Billy Preston had a backup band of George Harrison, Ringo Starr, Leon Russell and Eric Clapton when he sang "[illegible] the Way God Planned It" at the Concert for Bangla Desh in Madison Square Garden. He started [illegible] Mahalia Jackson and eventually played with [illegible] and for the Beatles. His most recent album is "[illegible]"

MUSIC CLUB TO MEET

Next Wednesday. Members of the Princeton Music Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Thomas Cook, Kingston, Wednesday, Nov. 8 at 8:30 p.m.

Opening the program will be Frances Wendt, harpsichordist, playing Suite for the Virginal (1961) by Gordon Jacob. Walter Wanne[illegible] will then sing a group of Brahms and Wolf lieder accompanied by Mr. Wendt at the piano.

Fantasie by Robert Casadesus will be performed by Robert Scanlan, flute, and Jane Mark, piano. This piece is followed by another duo, Polonaise Brillante, Op. 3 by Chopin performed by Joan Thompson, cello, and William Cheadle, piano.

Mr. Cheadle will close the program with Three Page Sonata by Ives, and three Rachmaninoff pieces.

ORGAN RECITALS SET

By Westminster Professor. William Hays, assistant professor of organ at Westminster Choir College, will present identical recitals Monday at 6:30 p.m., and Tuesday at 8 p.m., as part of the 1972-73 Faculty Recital Series.

Both recitals will be held in the Casavant Recital Hall on the Westminster campus, and are open to the public without charge. Because seating in the Recital Hall is limited, tickets will be required. They may be obtained by calling the College (921-7100).

Mr. Hays joined the Westminster organ faculty this fall after completing his doctorate at the Union Theological Seminary School of Sacred Music. While at Union, he lectured in historical musicology.

His master's degree is from Indiana University, and he has studied with Andre Marchal and Jean Langlais.

In addition to his teaching duties at Westminster, Mr. Hays is currently continuo organist for a series of Sunday afternoon Bach cantatas which are being presented at Holy Trinity Lutheran Church in New York City.

Borough's 7 Worst Intersections Listed

What are the seven worst intersections in the Borough?

Any driver or pedestrian could come up with more than that lucky number but Traffic Associates, working for Mercer County with Federal "TOPICS" money (Traffic Operations to Increase Capacity and Safety) [illegible] identified [illegible] to [illegible]:

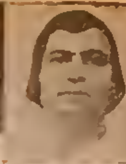
- [illegible] Nassau [illegible] University Place
- Vandeventer and Nassau
- Harrison and Nassau
- Witherspoon and Nassau
- Harrison and Hamilton
- Wiggins and Witherspoon
- [illegible] Chambers [illegible] Witherspoon

What pleases Borough officials [illegible] that they've just learned the state will pay half the cost of re-working of these intersections. Everybody knew that Federal money would pay half, so it looks as though all the work can be done without a penny of municipal money. Except that is where off-street parking replaces on-street parking. Then, according to Mayor Robert W. Cawley the state will pay only 2[illegible]

Preliminary drafts for redesigning have already been approved by the Borough, but Mayor Cawley says the municipality has reserved the right to make detailed comment after final plans have been submitted to the state.

Intersections could be changed, the mayor observed, by something as simple as a retimed traffic light or a change in parking pattern. For some intersections reconstruction might be needed, he said.

Pharmacy Footnotes



by Mel Atlas, Reg. Pharm.

Since the very beginning of time, the mysterious healing effects of drugs and herbs on the illnesses of mankind have never ceased to amaze us. Ironically enough, here in the 20th Century, the most learned men of medicine have discovered positive proof that remedies centuries old are in fact the most potent in combating various illnesses. Ancient brethren were able to secure relief from pains and ills by plucking a curative from mother nature's bountiful blessings. In the weeks and months to follow, we will bring you many fascinating topics relating to pharmacy and medicines.

Welcome to THE FORER PHARMACY, 160 Witherspoon, Princeton's leading pharmacy for all your health and sickroom needs. Convalescent aids and surgical supplies available—for rent or sale. Open daily from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sundays till 3 p.m. Phone 921-7286. Stop in soon, won't you?

Noise Law Not Enforced.

To the Editor of Town Topics::

Princeton has a brand new noise ordinance. It does not seem to make any difference as it does not seem to be being enforced.

For nearly a year now those of us living around the upper part of Witherspoon Street near Nassau Street have been awakened every morning at around 5 a.m., by an extremely loud garbage truck.

It works its way up one side of Witherspoon, stopping particularly at Lahiere's restaurant and then, just as one has fallen asleep again, turns around and comes back on the other side stopping at several places. It fills the air with a whining roar which stops and starts intermittently and which must be very high indeed on the decibel scale.

A call to the Administrator's Office ascertained that the noise ordinance prohibits the collection of garbage except between the hours of 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. — 5 a.m. is definitely outside of those hours. I was referred by the Administrators Office to the Engineer's Office.

There I was told to call the Police Department. Several calls to the Police Department produced only the result that they "have it down." The truck continues its whining roar every morning except Sunday.

Surely it is this kind of nuisance interfering with sleep every night in the small hours of the morning that a noise ordinance is most needed for, rather than for a rock concert once a year.

Open Appointments Backed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The following letter has been sent to Borough Mayor Robert Cawley with a copy to Township Mayor John Wallace.

WOMEN'S POLITICAL CAUCUS OF PRINCETON

The Women's Political Caucus notes with interest the recent consideration in Borough Council of a resolution put forward dealing with the need to open up local board appointments to more citizens.

We approve such efforts on behalf of women and other minority groups, and of other citizens to whom the appointments to local boards may seem to be a remote and mysterious process.

Local board action affects all of us in initiating policy decisions on, for example, how our town is planned and zoned, who is permitted to live where, and why; how our environment is protected.

The members of the Women's Political Caucus have been gratified to see that more women are being appointed to local boards both in the Borough and the Township. We approve setting up well-publicized registers for interested citizens who would like to be considered for board positions.

We recognize that it is important for appointees to be highly qualified for their jobs. However, we think that it is also important for these appointees to represent all segments of the Princeton community. We know that the day is past when only a select few were considered qualified for public service.

We specifically propose that the local newspapers and radio stations cooperate with the Borough Council and Township Committee as a public service to publicize openings on all local boards and commissions. A regular format in the papers should include an announcement of openings and a return form for interested citizens who wish to volunteer their services.

We hope that the resolution concerning this problem will be discussed further and that you will be able to respond to this proposal in the near future.

Questions on Public Housing.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Even though I am not a resident of the Ewing Mt. Lucas Road area, I have followed carefully the Benedict Yedlin proposal for 100 units of low income housing at that location. I am troubled that three areas have not been explored and believe that any decision regarding the proposal should consider all the facts and consequences.

First, I have noted that Article I of the Agreement between Princeton Township and the Borough Housing Authority states that ". . . within five years after the completion thereof . . . there will be elimination (as approved by HUD) by demolition, condemnation, effective closing, or compulsory repair or improvement, of unsafe or insanitary dwelling units situated in the locality or metropolitan area of the Local Government substantially equal in number to the number of newly constructed units provided by such project. . ." This is a requirement of the Federal Statute under which the agreement was reached.

Do the taxpayers of Princeton realize that to fulfill this clause the Township must buy 100 units and dispose of them as provided above? Should not some estimate of the cost of the 100 units be given? How will they be disposed of? Where will they be located? Perhaps there is no intention of fulfilling this Article. If so, this is a deliberate violation of the spirit and the letter of the Statute.

My second concern is that the residents of Princeton have not been made fully aware that there will be a continuing cost to them for this project. While the project will make "Payment in Lieu of Taxes," there is no pretense that this payment will cover the cost of services and educational expenses caused by the project.

I believe the Authority should be required to furnish the residents of Princeton a reasonable estimate of the on going cost of the project. For the Township to allow construction without consideration of this cost would be wrong.

My third and greatest concern is this: I fear the project as presently conceived will be self-defeating. I do indeed see the need for low income housing. I do not see how any large project can result in anything other than the establishment of a low income ghetto. The Mt. Lucas-Ewing area is one area where integration has worked. There has never been any panic selling as Blacks have moved into the area. The mix has been about constant for several years.

I think this project might be more than the area can bear and that what is now a very healthy situation might not remain so. Why not three 35 unit projects located so that the low income families would be integrated into all of Princeton? I would bet that sites are available for a number of such smaller projects. I would support them.

Clive Barnes Review Hit.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is a copy of a letter I have sent to the New York Times.

CAROL KUNDQUIST

134 E. Rolling Hill Road

Skillman

It is sad — no, rather tragic to theater buffs to have lost one fine drama critic after another as each New York newspaper died.

I, for one, have found this loss augmented by the critics who have left us. I speak particularly of Clive Barnes.

On Friday night I and evidently Mr. Barnes, too, saw the Princeton group's first play Agamemnon.

Though it wasn't the best play nor the finest acting, directing or production I have ever seen, they were all most assuredly of superior quality.

It is disheartening indeed to read Mr. Barnes' review damning a play and production of such obviously high caliber "with faint praise." This is especially true when no one can help recognizing the sorry condition the theater is in now and has been in for some time.

It is also objectionable the way Mr. Barnes arbitrarily picks two male performers for special praise, when clearly other actors were as good or better.

If I am struck with impotent rage by Mr. Barnes' review, how much more affected must those be, who are involved in this fine production.

Congratulations.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

On behalf of all the people who were fortunate enough to attend the United Voices performance of James Weldon Johnson's "God's Trombones" on October 22 at the First Baptist Church, I would personally like to say a big thank you for a job well done!

I grew up in the New York area and have seen many Broadway shows, but when it comes to talent, natural talent, no Broadway show, in my estimation, can top it! Each performer gave of himself and herself exactly what was necessary for his or her role.

Especially noteworthy were the dancers (who through their every movement told a story) and Patricia Clark, the young lady who performed "The Crucifixion". I don't believe there was a "dry eye" in the church at the conclusion of her sermon. Her dramatic portrayal really made you feel that she was actually witnessing the Crucifixion right then and there.

From the opening selection "Old Time Religion" to the closing number "In That Great Gettin' Up Mornin'," the music was excellently executed by the United Voices choir. All cities and towns could certainly benefit from religious programs of this nature. Again, hearty congratulations for an excellent production and a very enlightening evening!

Police Report Happily: Mischief Night Quiet

Is mischief night losing its appeal?

It seems to be in Princeton, where both Borough Chief Michael Carnevale and his Township counterpart, Frederick Porter, reported relatively quiet nights Monday — mischief night. The most serious mischief in the Township this year, as in the past several years, was located in the well-to-do areas such as Herrontown Road, Dodd Lane and Edgerstoune.

"Don't ask me what's caused the decrease," commented Chief Carnevale. "Perhaps our young people are becoming too sophisticated for this type of thing. Certainly what we had last night seems like a small scale operation compared to 10-15 years ago."

He reported six incidents of egg throwing, two of which nearly caused accidents when the eggs were thrown at moving cars, and the usual soaping. There was one act of vandalism. Chief Carnevale said. Several cars parked in a Palmer Square lot had their radio antennas broken off.

"We're extremely fortunate that we had no serious acts of vandalism that you hear about in other communities," he stated.

Could Have Been Worse. The list was longer in the Township but Chief Porter summed it up by saying, "As a whole, it wasn't too bad. We had some minor damage to mailboxes but it could have been a lot worse."

Chief Porter had seven patrol cars on the road and extra patrols to cover the 17 square miles in the Township.

Four youths were brought to Township headquarters and charged with possession of alcohol and firecrackers. One was charged with possession of a switchblade knife. They were later released to their parents.

There was reported damage to mailboxes on Dodds Lane, Hun and Russell roads and Balcourt Drive. Obscenities were soaped on screens on homes on Deer Path.

Police stopped a U-Haul and confiscated eggs from two youths. One youth was hit in the neck with an egg thrown from a passing car. There was egg-throwing on Deer Path, Herrontown Road, Crooked Tree Lane and firecrackers in the Grover Avenue and Monroe Road areas.

Chief Porter also listed some five cases of rock throwing: two homes on Birch Avenue, Morgan Place, the Columbus Boy Choir School and the Thrift Drug Store in the Princeton Shopping Center. Three residents were bombarded with rocks, he said.

A stop sign on Terhune Road was soaped and painted red. Nini Motors and nearby Princeton House were soaped.

proved by the Borough Engineer regarding height and glass.

The addition would require three more employees, Mr. Morozoff testified, increasing the work staff to 16. Mr. Morozoff also guaranteed that, "We will be back in the future." Further additions, as they are needed, however, will be up he said. The building is designed to take an additional story.

There were no objections to the expansion. The lot itself backs up to the Engineering Quadrangle property line.

"Yes" to Subdivisions. In the only other application heard by the board, James MacKenzie, the lone principal in the Noble Investment Corporation, was granted three variances to divide a large lot he owns on Pine Street near Spruce into four building lots.

The lot, measuring approximately 184 feet deep by 140 feet, would be divided into two lots facing Pine Street, measuring 60 by 100, while the two in rear would each contain about 6000 square feet. Each of the later would have a 10 foot strip of frontage on Pine.

Mr. MacKenzie was granted a 40-foot variance for 1st width for each of the two rear lots. He has 10 but needed 60 and a five-foot side yard variance for an existing house on one of the front lots.

At the moment there are three buildings on the lot. One on a front lot is over 150 years old and has, in Mr. MacKenzie opinion, historical significance. He plans to restore it. An old house, vacant since 1966-67 and a cottage in disrepair that straddles the rear lots he intends to demolish. On the remaining three lots, he told the board, he plans to build single family homes.

His attorney, Gordon Strauss, reported that Mr. MacKenzie's proposed subdivision had received unanimous approval from both the Princeton Regional Planning Board and the Mercer County Planning Board.

Mr. Strauss told the board that Pine was a street trying to lift itself by its own bootstraps. "It needs imaginative planning and development."

Mr. MacKenzie, who also developed a lot at 36 Pine Street four years ago by renovating one house and building another, was perhaps doing more to upgrade the street than any other single person, Mr. Strauss concluded. There were no objections.

Two cases were withdrawn. That of Princeton University regarding a proposed sign for McCarter Theater and another regarding the retail use of the former Male's Book Store on Nassau Street.

The latter was withdrawn after the Zoning officer, in error, had told the owners they had to cease selling because the prior non-conforming use had ceased operation more than a year ago. It had not.

COUNTERCHARGES FLY

After Buxton Incident. The manager of Buxton's on Nassau Street and two youths engaged in countercharges following an incident Saturday afternoon at the luncheonette.

The manager, Lester Wolfgang, signed a complaint summons against Thomas Mauro, 20, of Hillside Avenue and a 16 year-old Borough resident for interfering and obstructing his passage. He told Sgt. Thomas Procaccino that the two had prevented him from entering the restaurant after he had left it momentarily around 3 o'clock.

Mauro and the juvenile, in turn, signed assault charges against Mr. Wolfgang. It is scheduled to be thrashed out in Borough court on November 15.

Zoning Dates Changed

The Borough Zoning Board of Adjustment has announced that the regularly scheduled fourth Thursday meeting date for November and December has been changed.

In November, the Board will meet a week later on the 30th because of Thanksgiving. In December it will meet a week earlier on the 21st.

HELPFUL CALL . . .

Stolen Property Returned. A call from a resident to Borough police last week resulted in the return of stolen property to the rightful owner. Chief Michael Carnevale, who described the call as "helpful," said that it "points out the cooperation that can exist between citizens and the police."

The caller reported three juveniles in possession of a pair of mini-bikes at a playground. The youths appeared to be in the process of stripping the bikes. Police, however, were able to recover the bikes intact and return them to the owner.

YOU'VE HEARD IT ALL BEFORE, RIGHT? WRONG.

Taxes traffic, housing ,drugs—these problems in Princeton seem to be discussed in campaign after campaign. The Powell-Sigmund campaign for Borough Council is no exception. These two candidates have presented well though out suggestions for dealing with these problems, which, after all, remain important concerns.

But there are new issues in this campaign, thanks to Bob Powell and Barbara Sigmund, issues that have not been discussed fully in recent campaigns. For example:

● Unsanitary restaurants and food stores in Princeton have been the subject of hard-hitting criticism, and specific, realistic reforms recommended by Bob Powell, who has worked with this problem at the state level in his capacity with a Princeton research firm.

● Parks and recreation programs have been the subject of a number of imaginative ideas from Barbara Sigmund, who has drawn on her experience as a mother and a teacher of young children.

● Improved Day Care facilities and a number of other programs aimed at the concerns of women in Princeton have been put forward by Mr. Powell and Mrs. Sigmund. In its endorsement of the Sigmund-Powell ticket, the Women's Political Caucus of Princeton said it was "particularly impressed" by the imagination the two candidates showed in this area.

● An organized, informed search for state and federal funds has been outlined by Mr. Powell and Mrs. Sigmund, to help relieve property tax burdens. They note that state and federal funds could be tapped for local programs in transportation, aid to the elderly, housing, and environmental protection.

● Experience. It's no surprise the Sigmund Powell ticket has campaigned on some new ideas—both candidates have experience with government. Bob Powell works with a research firm which studies the effectiveness of state and local governments, has testified before the N. J. Legislature on consumer problems, and is a consultant to the Federal Communications Commission.

Barbara Sigmund also has a working knowledge of government, through her work at the White House, with the Congress, with many Princeton civic programs, and as a teacher of government at Stuart School.

Put this training and know-how to work for Borough Government, when you vote November 7.

VOTE FOR TEDDY ROOSEVELT! A Roosevelt (T.R.)-Johnson campaign poster (shown here) is a treasure in the Presidential collection of Todd Zapolski. Hundreds of other buttons, badges, bumper-stickers and souvenirs, some dating back 120 years, have been assembled by the young collector. Todd is only 14, but he corresponds with collectors in their 70s — the hobby knows no age limit.

Landslide of Americana in Election Collection

[illegible] wave the proud buttons in each lapel [illegible] Mr. Who [illegible] Americ[illegible] political seeking comes [illegible] the collection [illegible] campaign buttons, bumper [illegible] assembled by [illegible] Todd Zapolski, who has [illegible] over 700 items in only three years as a collector.

Todd, a 14-year-old Princeton High School freshman, lives at 50 Olden Lane. His neighbor is Mrs. Helen Meyner. Back in 1960, when Todd was organizing "Meyner" Mighty Midgets," a pre-teen group working to get former Governor Robert Meyner back in "Morven," Mr. Meyner showed Todd his own collection of campaign memorabilia and showed it to Todd.

Today, well, about half his collection is now on view at Princeton High, the Middle School and Johnson Park. The other half covers the walls of his room. He finances his hobby by mowing lawns and walking dogs.

Treasured. The oldest treasures are from William Henry Harrison and the years 1840 and 1841. There's a "token" from 1810, referring to Harrison as the "People's Choice" and alluding to his humble birth in a humble log cabin which just wasn't so, Todd points out.

The following year brings the failed grey silk funeral badge from the Harrison funeral, April 4, 1841.

Todd's most valuable item dates from the days of William Jennings Bryan and the campaign against William McKinley in 1896. It's a silver-colored lapel bug, with folded wings. When the wearer wishes to reveal his political sympathies he presses the bug and the wings flip open unveiling tiny portraits of Bryan and his running mate, Charles Sewall.

Todd has a similar gold bug favoring McKinley, but collectors regard it as less unusual than the Bryan-Sewall bug.

McKinley is also represented on a gold dollar with a dial face. Turn the dial to McKinley and the legend informs you that a McKinley dollar is worth 100 cents. Turn it to Bryan (which automatically moves the American eagle's head downward) and behold, the dollar is worth only 50 cents.

Browsing. Where do they all come from?

"Antique shops," Todd says, "that is, whenever I can get my parents to stop the car and let me out at one!"

Also, Todd is a member of the American Political Items Collectors, and he goes to their meetings to swap and to buy. He will, in fact, be at such a gathering this Saturday. He pores over the classified section of the "Political Collector" magazine and reads "Button World."

The oldest campaign buttons, Todd learned, are those manufactured in 1896 for the McKinley-Hobart campaign and Todd has one of those. After 1896, of course, the buttons began to flood the country.

"I have buttons for all the Presidential candidates except John W. Davis, the Democrat who ran against Coolidge in 1924," Todd says, and he describes his unusual "jugates," which have pictures of both candidates on the same button.

T.R. for me. But everything, really, leads up to Todd's favorite: Teddy Roosevelt.

"I don't really know why, but he's always fascinated me," Todd says, and he brings out the T.R. cigarbox emblazoned with Roosevelt's picture.

"Cigarboxes went out in 1928 – Al Smith's was the last one," Todd explains.

An autographed letter from 1917 is probably the most valuable T.R. item. But there is also a bullmoose pin, a pin tray, a big poster.

From early election campaigns, a handsome little "tip" tray (for the waiter's tip) inviting a vote for Taft and Sherman and the Grand Old Party, a tray so artfully and carefully painted that it looks like Tole ware; a one-inch daguerreotype of Lincoln from 1864 in a charming Victorian gilt frame; a Benjamin Harrison hatpin; clay pipes from the 1908 Taft and Bryan campaigns... all evoke the ways of other times.

Trading Stamps, Too. From modern campaigns, Todd has Goldwater Trading Stamps, inviting the voter to "Trade Johnson for Goldwater;" buttons urging that John W. Bricker be drafted as the Republican Presidential candidate; a ship's clock (clock missing) showing "F.D.R." at the wheel for a New Deal."

Todd's autograph collection is as catholic and non-partisan as his collection of artifacts. Julie Nixon Eisenhower and Harry Truman... George McGovern and Nelson Rockefeller... Calvin Coolidge and Ramsey Clark... Hubert Humphrey and Alf Landon. The only respondent who failed was Lyndon B. Johnson — his autograph is only a rubber stamp.

After hours, with the valuables carefully nested in their cotton lined cases, Todd turns to the practical politics of today. In the 1968 Presidential campaign, they said he was too young even to run errands. Today, he's a worker for George McGovern, wearing the campaign button that will eventually join his collection.

We Thank THE TRENTONIAN, Mercer County's Leading Morning Newspaper, for Endorsing Us as Freeholders!

Snedeker and Armenti

... Trenton is the biggest single issue in Mercer County and, with the other cities, the biggest single issue in the state.

Even with a voice of its own in county government, it will remain a huge issue. But without that voice, God help it and its environs.

We endorse Carmen Armenti, the man who will give this city that voice, while fairly representing his constituents in the suburbs.

We also endorse Clifford Snedeker, the other Republican candidate for freeholder. During his years on the freeholder board, Mr. Snedeker has demonstrated toughness and skill in his handling of a thankless job — supervision of the county's correctional institutions.

The Trentonian, October 31, 1972

But more importantly, we need your endorsement on November 7 so that we can fulfill the faith of THE TRENTONIAN and you in us.

COURT OF HONOR HELD

For Scout Troop 43. The presentation of the Eagle Scout badge to Jay Brenneman, 389 Prospect Avenue, was the highlight of the fall Court of Honor of Scout Troop 43, sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church. Jay has been a Scout for about 3½ years.

He is patrol leader of the Flying Eagle patrol and a den chief in Cub Pack 43. His Eagle service project was mapping the wiring at the church and labeling fuse boxes and switches. He and the Scouts who assisted him spent some 70 hours on the project.

Twenty-five other Scouts received recognition during the Court of Honor. Arthur Dawson, Jeff Flemister and Al Hastings received their Life Scout badges. Those who received Star Scout badges were Jeff Hodges, Richard Schorske and Bill Stokes.

Scouts receiving First Class badges were Chris Fong, Donald Link, Steve Magee, and Fred Ward. Second Class badges went to David Bernlsen, Robert Cooke, Tom Fleming, Scooter Scott, and Steve Wright.

Ten boys received their first Scout badges: Billy Anderson, Mark Brunner, Andy Gerb, Tarik Helba, Peter Megglit, Eric Reichard, Ted Rose, Hugh Smith, and Bobby Wilkes. In addition to these progress awards, a total of nearly a hundred merit badges were presented to 26 Scouts. These badges had been earned since the last Court of Honor in June.

Junior Assistant Scoutmaster Philip Lamb, speaking on behalf of the Scouts, presented a sleeping bag to Scoutmaster Frank Fornoff, who is starting his 16th year as Scoutmaster of the troop.

INDICTMENT REINSTATED

For Colin Carpi. Colin C. Carpi, Fairway Drive, again stands indicted for the first degree murder of his estranged wife, Laura, as a result of a ruling by the Appellate Division of State Superior Court.

The initial indictment handed down August 19, 1971, had been quashed December 10 by Superior Court Judge A. Jerome Moore. He ruled that results of a lie detector tests given to Mr. Carpi should not have been presented to the grand jury.

In overturning Judge Moore's decision last week the Appellate division said it was not convinced there was insufficient evidence to indict Mr. Carpi and that the indictment should not have been thrown out.

In its opinion, the three-judge panel said, "we hold that the motion to quash should have been denied. Ordinarily a court should not exercise its power to dismiss an indictment except on the clearest and plainest grounds."

Mr. Carpi's attorney, Gerald R. Stockman, said he would have to discuss the appellate court ruling with his client before deciding whether to appeal the decision to the State Supreme Court.

Meanwhile, Mr. Carpi free on his own recognizance, had bail set at $100 by Judge Moore.

Why I Plan to Vote

REPUBLICAN

By Eugene P. Wigner

Eugene P. Wigner, 8 Ober Road, has been a resident of Princeton since 1938, when he was named Thomas D. Jones Professor of Mathematical Physics at Princeton. Now an emeritus member of the faculty, he won the Nobel Prize in Physics in 1963.

The reasons for my non-McGovernite friends' and for my own opposition to Senator McGovern's presidential candidacy are somewhat different. Surely, they too are alarmed by his statement that there is little point in maintaining a strong defense in peacetime. We could rearm after the attack on us has occurred. This statement is considered particularly ill-conceived by my friends in view of Senator McGovern's later statement that the USSR attack can kill every American several times.

Nevertheless, Senator McGovern's views on foreign affairs and defense are not the principal reasons for my friends' opposition to him. They fear, rather, that the rapid and radical changes in his attitudes on domestic issues could cause havoc, that a person with views and decisions as vacillating, yes, as inconsistent, as those of McGovern cannot be an effective administrator — surely not in times as agitated as the present ones.

They recall his 1000 percent endorsement of Eagleton, his opposition to basic sections of the civil rights act of 1964 — both followed by a turnabout. They recall his announced intention to appoint Wilbur Mills as Secretary of Treasury without apparently having consulted him and then advocating policies with respect to racial minorities diametrically opposed to those of Mills. They resent his attitude on academic freedom which he wants to restrict to those who want to have nothing to do with our government.

I agree with my friends' criticism of McGovern's internal policies. However, I fear the consequences of his attitude on national policies infinitely more. I know that it is well nigh impossible for a person born and brought up in this country to imagine that our national independence could be threatened.

I remember that no Frenchman whom I knew believed before the outbreak of the Second World War that Hitler had evil intentions against his country — no Frenchman I knew believed it, even though Hitler spoke and wrote about his plans and intentions just as clearly as the present rulers of Russia write about their expectations, plans, and desires. Had it not been for our help to France, it would now be a Nazi colony. But who could help us in a similar emergency? No one.

We must be able to defend ourselves and we cannot if those responsible for our defense are constantly vilified, if our defense budget, now amounting to less than 8 per cent of our National Product, is grossly reduced whereas there is no criticism of the Russian defense budget amounting to more than 25 per cent of their National Product. According to Sholzenitsyn, the Russian figure is 40 per cent, and he warns us (Les Prix Nobel, 1971, p. 160) that "...western society is approaching that point beyond which the system becomes metastable and must fall." And indeed their nuclear missile power is greater than that of the U.S. by at least 50 per cent, and their Civil Defense can render their population ten times less vulnerable to a nuclear retaliation by us than is our population

DEMOCRATIC

By James S. Thorton

James S. Thornton, 49 Lovers Lane, is head of the international department of the Egan Machinery Co. in Somerville. For the past three months, he has been on leave of absence to devote full-time to the New Jersey campaign of Republicans for McGovern.

Why am I, a registered Republican for more than 30 years, voting for Senator George McGovern?

All Americans remember Abraham Lincoln's phrase, "of the people, by the people, and for the people". Richard Nixon has changed this to read — of the powerful, by the insiders, for the few. When President Eisenhower found the breath of scandal touching his administration, Sherman Adams was retired. When will Nixon act — or even speak — on the Watergate espionage affair, the milk price rise scandal or the Russian wheat deal? When President Truman found the military had disobeyed orders, he fired the top man, even though General MacArthur was a national hero. Should we expect less from Nixon in the Lavelle case?

Many of us had hoped that high office would reveal a new Nixon, one who would cast off tch style and methods of earlier years. Need one mention his $18,000 secret fund of 1952 and the $10 million secret fund of today? Twenty years later, Nixon still does not exhibit a public moral code that rejects secret political slush funds.

On October 5 a fellow Republican listed in these columns five points concerning Richard Nixon that I feel need examination.

1. "He has significantly reduced world tensions." Nixon's proposed 1973 budget has 60 per cent earmarked for the costs of war. Nixon himself must not think the tension level is down.

2. "— orderly withdrawal from Viet Nam —". The most devastatnig aerial bombardment in history was not "withdrawal".

3. "— reversed the tide of inflation —". A curve going in the same direction is not reversed. Those who buy the groceries know about the January 1969 to April 1972 increases of 26 per cent for whole wheat bread, 20.9 per cent for hamburger and 23.7 per cent for coffee.

4. "... rate of unemployment is gradually decreasing —". The same week this statement was printed, it was announced that unemployment in New Jersey had risen again — to 7.4 per cent — the highest in ten years. The national figure of 5.5 per cent is bad enough, unless you believe our

5. "... imaginative programs, free enterprise system requires a substantial number of our citizens to be without jobs, to solve . . . welfare and urban decay problems —". Nixon's attitude is best shown by the fact he fought the Social Security rate increase and then claimed credit for the larger checks when they were mailed out. Had Congress given him the power, his stated method of staying under a $250 billion ceiling was to cut back on the funds going to welfare and urban decay solutions.

However, of more funda mental importance is the difference in attitude of Richard Nixon and George McGovern toward our society.

Richard Nixon exemplifies and encourages those who believe our problems can be solved by separating our society into two simple groups — "good people" and "bad people" — and then using force in all its forms against the "bad."

Have we so soon forgotten force as a problem solver at Orangeburg, Jackson State and Kent State? Or Richard Nixon welcoming hard hats on the Cabinet table in the White House as a sign of approval for the action of other "hard hats" in beating up war protesters in New York?

The ultimate example is Richard Nixon's contention that sufficient force would bend the North Vietnamese to his will. After four additional tragic years, 20,000 additional American lives and four million tons of bombs it is the importance of an election issue and not the importance of humanity which impel Richard Nixon to new frontiers. But as are a mature society seek political accords. Perhaps the mind can grasp the weight of bombs Nixon has authorized if reminded that four million tons equals the body weight of the population of Indochina, a pound of explosive for each pound of flesh.

The "bad" people in Richard Nixon's world are easily identified by him. Newspapers, opinion makers and even some business men" who disagreed with the mining of Haiphong are "bad." The unfortunate who need assistance in our affluent society are "welfare cheaters" and therefore "bad." The Congress that rejected Haynesworth and Carswell for the Supreme Court was accused by Nixon of "malicious character assassination," "vicious attacks" and "hypocrisy", even though the three top Republican leaders of the Senate were unable to support Haynesworth.

There is another way besides this appeal to divisiveness, to force, to this corrosion of human values and trust in national leadership. We as a nation are almost 200 years old and still growing in the most exciting experiment of self government the world has ever known. But we are a mature society now, one that can no longer [illegible] we act as a free people to avoid decays at home nor "go easy" to win to fight a war we know is morally wrong.

George McGovern points the right direction, appealing to our nation's most time-honored resources: our limitless moral and spiritual forces for the common good, asking us to put into practice the democracy in which we profess to believe.

The straightforward approach of Senator McGovern is strangely unsettling to many so accustomed to the deceptions of the Johnson and Nixon years. We need Senator McGovern's honesty and leadership. That is why I will vote for him.

to a nuclear attack by them.

I realize that even some supporters of our President disagree with my views, that they do not fully share my apprehensions concerning the future of our nation. But I would not be honest if I did not put them forth without embellishment.

In conclusion, I trust President Nixon's leadership to a much greater extent than that of the other candidate and hope that he will be re elected.

CAN WE DO A BETTER JOB WITH OUR COUNTY GOVERNMENT?

You're darn right, Joseph Tighue and John Watson, Democratic freeholder candidates, believe that our county government can always be improved to make it operate more efficiently and more economically. That's why they strongly supported a law signed by the Governor giving the counties the right to reorganize and streamline their government to make it do a better job. Your government. They want it to work well for you.

HUPPETS, CALENDARS And Rip-off Recipes. Princeton Gourmet is spicing its inventory these days with under $10 gadgets and things—all for gift-giving season.

Grandmotherly items include "Huppets—" a batch of cleverly-designed hand puppets made by the ladies in Possum Trot, Ky. All the Huppets are knitted and embellished with colorful felt trim. ($2) There are also fantastic little animals made up into bean bags - realistic little (unscented) skunks and calico frogs.

Another item is the Rip-off Cookbook—slim little tomes with perforated tops and op art covers. After all, why keep a whole cookbook, when you can rip off the recipes you especially admire and slid slide them into your card file ($1)

Gourmet has calendars small "Ring a Date" versions that help youngsters learn their numbers as well as keep you on schedule. Ring the day, month, etc. ($3) Another has huge blocks of write-in space on a wall hanger ($3) Another uses red ping pong balls. ($10)

Going a little over it's minimum, the shop has marked enthusiasm for its Salton yogurt maker, a slim, attractively designed box that lines five jars in a row. A thermometer comes with it. You need a quart of milk, a tablespoon of plain yogurt from the store and you're in business. Add your favorite preserves later. $11.95)

were told that it cooks as well as the Le Cruset ware, but "we think it's much handsomer!" There are bakers, skillets, casseroles, and so on. Princeton Gourmet is believed to be the only shop between New York and Philadelphia to carry the new ware.

Looking around in a gifty way we noticed a rosewood ice bucket that's almost a wood sculpture. It's so imaginatively designed ($40). There is also a low, straight sided salad bowl of rosewood, made in Denmark. Nearby are carving boards and teak salad bowls.

Gourmet is showing Dansk woods, china, candle holders and crystal. There are new dessert plates in bottle green glass, each with a stylized fauna design. (In clear glass too.)

A very contemporary design distinguishes the Danish heavy lead crystal service pieces. For cheese, the round tray has a central handle and imbedded in the crystal, the words for cheese in many languages.

From Czechoslovakia, a good line of fairly inexpensive glasses, even brandy snifters. The shop also carries Waterford — hand cut, polished crystal goblets.

The Christmas ornaments are due in any day: all kinds and inexpensive.

TURKISH JEWELRY And Mexican Embroidery

The Workroom at 221 Witherspoon Street was unpacking Turkish jewelry on Saturday, all hand made of silver or pewter.

There are softly jingling coins on bracelets, lacy pendants and earrings, even metal belts. Some pieces have small blue stones or bits of choral. The jewelry includes old and new pieces. Prices range from about $3 for the earrings up to around $25 for an unusual belt.

We also saw a metal belt from Greece and an attractive belt clasp in the form of two metal shells.

The Workroom is well known for its unusual things, but we were surprised to find children's clothes on display. Little dresses of heavy white cotton with hand-embroidered yokes (front and back) have just come in from Mexico. The colors are joyous reds, blues, greens and yellows. There are a few smocked at the neckline above a band of cross stitch ($13.50).

Sweaters for moppets are in heavy knits, all handmade. For an unusual touch, little vests crocheted in bright horizontal stripes.

From Turkey, knitted socks, gloves and hats for the school set, in intricate patterns that we have not seen anywhere else. All combine several colors ($3-$8.50).

The Workroom still keeps an interesting supply of fat pillows for the floor and has added a new wrinkle: camel saddle bags in rug patterns, which you stuff with pillows for a cushion seat and back support.

Peasant Shirts. The Mexican shirts are very generous in size, falling full from the front yoke. A deep blue shirt is self trimmed around the puckered stitched yoke. ($11.50) Other Mexican shirts stress embroidery in the sun colors. All have collars and long sleeves. Nearby are pants, long skirts and granny type dresses.

From somewhere, lengths of old, printed silk have been obtained, and blouses made in a blending of several pieces. The Workroom shows the blouses in the wrap version with three subtly matching prints.

For perfume makers, candle makers and explorers. The Workroom has imported tiny vials of perfume essences. Put a drop on a light bulb and add fragrance to a room. The various scents include musk, Italian lemon, Patchouly, clove orange, sandalwood, nutmeg, potpourri, and more. All are pure essence. ($2.75)

From Nigeria, "tent pieces" to use in what ever decorative way their imagination demands. The Nigerian cottage loom is narrow, and the woven, heavy cotton strips are stitched together at intervals to form the airy, sun filtering tent piece. The strips blend white with stripes and intervals of geometric designs.

Odds and ends at The Workroom include glass boxes with metal edges and bright feet used in unusual shapes, small clay figurines from Mexico, brightly painted, pottery straws, bowls, gourd dippers and of course, a small figure of a prowling tiger. All are imported.

For the creative sewer, the Workroom has lengths of interesting fabrics, hand woven imports that can be used for skirts, shirts or pillow coverable pieces, and things we haven't yet thought of.

And from the Huichole Indians in Mexico, tightly drawn wool paintings, primitive and colorful ($8 and up).

Fred Bohen.

Because it's time for action in Congress.

* ACTION to bring Federal dollars to bear on the costs of quality public education, to relieve the burden of our soaring local property taxes.

* ACTION to crack down on rising prices — and to put America back to work.

* ACTION to review ALL tax preferences and to close those loopholes which benefit only a few of the super-rich.

* ACTION to restore Congress to its Constitutional position of responsibility in relation to the Courts and the Executive.

and most importantly

* ACTION in the service of our new 5th District, action on the problems of unfinished highways and decrepit railroads, of polluted rivers and annual flooding, of the exploding suburban growth that threatens our precious open lands.

"I believe in the politics of performance. Government can be made to work for us, it can be made to resolve problems that people care about and not just react to them. I have made active, visible representation the major issue in this campaign because the new 5th District deserves nothing less."

YOUR VOICE IN WASHINGTON IS HEARD

President Nixon says: "Peter Frelinghuysen is . . . a spokesman whose voice has been heeded in the highest places of our Government and whose vote has consistently been cast for the public good."

Peter Frelinghuysen's legislative efforts have always been directed toward making a better life for the people of his district, the nation and the world. His stamp of leadership has been evident in the present Congress — as it has been throughout his 20 years of service to the people of New Jersey's Fifth District.

He has faced up to the great issues confronting us all and is an acknowledged leader in developing effective and workable programs to meet these issues.

And while Peter Frelinghuysen is standing for re-election on the record of service he has compiled, he is not content to rest on this record. Rather, he intends to build upon it.

Read his goals for the 70's — goals which, based upon his performance record, Peter Frelinghuysen will attain:

A prosperous peacetime economy without inflation . . . Full employment . . . Fiscal responsibility and resistance to excessive federal spending . . . Reform of the welfare system . . . Carefully planned environmental clean-up program . . . Congressional guidelines for the courts on the problem of busing . . . National program for the expansion of mass transit facilities . . . Increased federal responsibility for flood control . . . An all-volunteer Army . . . Strong national defense . . . Continued efforts to combat crime and illicit drug traffic . . . Continued negotiations to bring about a generation of peace . . . Vigorous expansion of American trade.

You dial local calls yourself, right?
So why not long distance calls?
It's just as easy.
And dialing saves you money.

You always save when you dial direct, without the services of an operator.* Because the rates are always lower than for calls which require an operator, such as credit card, collect, third number billed, person-to-person, and coin-phone calls to other states.

It makes sense, then, to dial all your calls direct.

On calls to other states from your home or business phone, simply dial the three-digit area code for the place you're calling, then dial the phone number. If you don't know the area code, you'll find help in the front pages of your phone book.

Don't know the phone number? You can get it at no extra charge from Directory Assistance in the place you're calling. Just dial the area code plus 555-1212. Then jot the number down for future use.

What if you should reach a wrong number? No Problem. Hang up, dial the operator and tell us about the mistake. We'll make sure the call isn't on your phone bill.

New Jersey Bell

*Direct dialing rates also apply to all calls made from areas where direct dialing facilities are not available.

ARTS AND CRAFTS
At University Art Museum. The latest display, The Arts And Crafts Movement in America, is a venture into history, nostalgia and a study of the evolution of American taste and style at the turn of the century. The exhibition of print, furniture, pottery and concurrent decorative pieces represent the emergence of a sophisticated American taste pattern.

Beginning at the end of the 19th century, with strong European influence, the show charts the development of the decorative arts in this century as liberation from the rigors of continental style, through the flowing whiplash lines of Tiffany, the rigid geometry of Stickly and into the dynamic style introduced and later institutionalized by Frank Lloyd Wright.

Throughout the chronology of the exhibit, it is possible to view creative forces emerging and growing from one style to the next. Potters inspired by earlier works and their own genie invent new glazes, reuse and reinterpret old forms in new fashions, and travel through artistic fashions with the creative energy of each succeeding era breaking out of an earlier mold.

In furniture, too, it is possible to see the styles evolve, to see the hand of each master add his innovation and alter existing patterns. There is an almost organic feeling both in the fluidity of many of the forms and the essence of growth and change that pervade the exhibit.

Tiffany stained glass, glowing, rich in color and design contrast sharply with the later glass of Wright, still irridescent, but controlled and austere. It is interesting to see Wright's work with its predecessors in view. Like many other objects in the display, it is possible to understand the influence from which Wright drew his forms and to appreciate his thinking in his manner of expressing these forms.

Like reading yesterday's newspaper the value of the objects change and a different perspective is gained when they can be seen as an element in a continuing progression of growth and change. In the case of the arts and crafts display, it enables the viewer to appreciate the collection, both for itself and for its value as the seeds of future styles, yet to be generated.

At The Eye for Art. An exhibit of Puerto Rican graphics displays the works of contemporary printmakers. Woodcut, intaglio, silk screen, dry point and linoleum are used to display many different subjects in many different styles. The exhibit, which has been loaned to the gallery from the collection of the Instituto de Cultura Puertoriqueno includes prints that range from near primitive to very sophisticated.

Among the works by more sophisticated printmakers or printmakers are several by Lorenzo Gilbert Homar. Working in wood, silk screen and linoleum, Homar uses lettering as the major design element in most of his work. Combining calligraphy with good design and making fine use of white space, the results of this printmakers work are equally interesting in wood, silk screen or linoleum.

At Susuki, Ltd. A new gallery and another aspect of contemporary art can be found in Kingston. Primitive painting is the main theme of Susuki and works of a primitive nature have been gathered from various parts of the world.

Haitian paintings dominate and fill the gallery with their intense colors and intricate subject matter. Landscape, nature studies and figurative composition are all intricately constructed. Pattern figures as an important element in most of the work and tiny details of nature forms, textural surfaces and multiple figure compositions are used as motif for the display of primary color.

According to the gallery owners, contemporary Haitian primitive painting has recently been under serious consideration by a number of museums and major collectors. Some of the displayed works are by recognized Haitian painters. Included are the later works of some primitives who have received training and gone on to more sophisticated types of work.

Carving, sculpture and some works in fibers are also on display, as are paintings and carvings from East Africa and Spain. A sculpture garden, itself quite beautiful, provides a setting for major pieces of sculpture and carvings from many parts of the world.

At Gallery of Fine Art The interaction of color, form and light are ably displayed in George Green's plexiglas constructions at the Princeton Gallery of Fine Art. Mr. Green works in three dimensions that are created to be hung as paintings but provide an extra dimension through build up of color and light.

This artist's exploration of form and color and the degree of sensitive control that he exerts over his work can be seen through the wide range of shapes and ventures into different color harmonies. Color balances are carefully considered, as are silhouette and use of negative space.

Collage effects have been pulled from the material through experimental work with surfaces, the use of paint and the occasional inclusion of other materials. The overall effect is rich, often luminescent, and an exciting venture into color and design.

ON VIEW . . .

Dorothea Greenbaum's Work. The sculpture of Dorothea Greenbaum is now on view in a retrospective at the Sculpture Center, 167 East 69th Street, New York. The exhibition will continue through November 18.

The 70 sculptures range from "Baby", a bronze from 1927, to several works executed in the present year. Mrs. Greenbaum, who has made her home and maintained her studio in Princeton since 1953, is perhaps best known here for her figure of a child in the Princeton public Library. She is also represented in many local private collections.

She is in several institutional collections, also, including the Newark Museum, the New Jersey State Museum in Trenton, the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts in Philadelphia, the Whitney Museum of American Art in New York and the Baltimore Museum of Art.

Mrs. Greenbaum began her career as a painter, and won a scholarship in 1909 for study at the New York School. In 1911, a painting was accepted for the National Academy of Design Annual. She did not turn to sculpture until 1926 and her first completed sculpture, "Sleeping Girl," in terra cotta, was exhibited that year at the Whitney Museum Studio Club.

A portrayer of natural forms, she is known for her studies of female nudes, for her portrait sculpture, and for affectionate examinations of animal life.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Oddly enough, some football teams have done better without a coach than with one! . . . For example, Yale played the 12 seasons from 1876 through 1887 without a coach and won 71 games while losing only 2—and that's the best 12-year record in the history of the school—better than in all the years they've had coaches!

Can you guess who is the only player in football history to make the official All-America football team as both lineman AND a back? . . . This unusual record is held by Bronko Nagurski . . . He was picked as an All-American at tackle and also at fullback when he played for Minnesota in the late 1920s.

Did you know that five of today's big league pro football teams had different nicknames when they first started? . . . The Washington Redskins original nickname was Braves . . . The Chicago Bears first nickname was Staleys because they were sponsored by the Staley Starch Co., of Decatur, Ill. . . . The New York Jets started as the Titans . . . The Kansas City Chiefs' franchise originally was in Dallas where the team's nickname was Texans . . . And the Pittsburgh Steelers began in 1933 as the Pirates and didn't become known as the Steelers until 1940.

Brown Could Win First Football Game from Princeton Since 1954

The last football game of the 1972 season in which they will have about an even chance to win is on the schedule Saturday for Princeton's somewhat tattered Tigers. They will face an ordinary Brown team at Providence and thereafter must play three of the four Ivies who have their sights set on a first place finish Against Harvard Yale and Cornell, the Orange and Black figures to be very much of an underdog.

Heading to New England for the second time this fall the Tigers should not be particularly outmatched in personnel but are unlikely to have as great an incentive to win at Brown. Many members of the Bruin squad were still hurting to walk when the Rhode Islanders last beat Princeton in football by 21-20 in 1968.

Already a 28-20 victor over Penn (a triumph that broke an 11-game losing streak) Brown may have the ability to add both Princeton and Columbia to its list of victims. A 3-4 record in the Ivy League would assure a fifth place finish the Bruins' best achievement on the gridiron in the past eight years.

The Tigers, on the other hand, have been losing both momentum and ball games steadily since they edged Rutgers and tied Columbia. Now no better than 1-3-1, they are bogged in the mire that exists at all teams in disappointing seasons: inability to show improvement from one week to the next. Precedence has often been the site of difficult afternoons for far stronger Princeton teams than this one, and it will take a surprisingly good effort on the part of these outmanned Tigers to prevail this weekend.

While stranger things have happened in the Ivy League than a Princeton upset in any of its last three games, the troubles that had been forecast at the outset of the season now loom large on the horizon. Even if the Tigers defeat Brown, they will in all likelihood win no more than two games this year. If they lose at Providence, there record could be the poorest debuted to the Orange and Black since the 1931 team beat Amherst and then lost its last seven.

years by lack of a capable quarterback, Brown derricked its holdovers at this position early in the season and has been going with sophomore Pete Beatrice, the only member of his class to hold such a job in the Ivy League. He passes frequently but not with marked success, completing around 41 percent and being charged with six interceptions.

Ian Cherry and Bruce Watson, a pair of juniors, do virtually all the ball carrying. While split end Chip Regine is Brown's leading receiver. The Bruins have managed 17 points or better in every game this year, but a subpar defense cost defeats at the hands of Holy Cross, Rhode Island, Dartmouth and Yale.

Despite considerable head over material on defense, it has been that platoon's problems which have plagued Brown consistently this fall. This was particularly the case in the last two Ivy games against Dartmouth and Yale, which rolled for a combined total of 102 points against the over matched Bruins.

The offensive line is completely new, but has been able to help the backfield score sufficiently often to keep Brown in three of its five games. A quirk in the schedule got the Bruins off to an earlier start than the rest of the league, and as a result they had last Saturday off. Opinion varies on the value of an open date in midseason, but it does have the effect of restoring most of the walking wounded to good health.

2 MISTAKES . . . AND BOOM!

Tigers Were Dead. The cast of characters Penn assembled to engineer Princeton's 15-10 defeat Saturday wrote a pleasant page in the Quakers record book, which is by no means surfeited with stories of success over the Tigers. In nearly a century of trying, the Red and Blue had won only 13 previous games, and only two in the last two decades.

Trailing, 10-8, in the final quarter, Penn was trapped at midfield in a third and 27 situation on slippery footing, with the rain still pelting down. It seemed logical to expect the Tigers to hold them and force a kick, but Princeton this year is not playing logical football.

Using Gary Shue, a third string quarterback and John Downey, a sophomore so far down the depth chart that he wasn't even listed on the Penn roster of nearly 80 players, Penn threw a long pass to the right flat from Shue to Downey. Some 35 yards downfield, a second-string flanker, Fred McCormick, waited with no Princeton defender within 20 yards of him.

Downey, who was a reserve quarterback on last year's Penn freshmen but had switched to the defensive squad this fall, threw a high, wobbly aerial for which McCormick had to tottonhook slightly. This delay resulted

QUICK LOOK AT BROWN

OFFENSE: Inconsistent and, like Princeton's, has been guilty of numerous turnovers. Passing game strong, rather than running attack.

DEFENSE: Has yielded average of 31 points a game but figures to do better against Tigers.

CHIEF ASSET: Belief it can defeat Princeton for first time in 18 years, coupled with opportunity for higher than usual Ivy League finish.

CHIEF PROBLEM: Near-total lack of winning tradition in football. Bruins have lost 13 of last 14 games, an adverse psychological factor if ever team gains upper hand.

in his being tackled after catching the pass, but on the very next down, another Penn receiver got behind the Tiger secondary again — this time in the end zone for a TD. The receiver, a reserve tight end who caught his first scoring pass after three years on the varsity, completed the strange cast that covered 48 yards on two plays for the winning touchdown.

Turnovers Were Numerous

Astro Turf isn't muddy, but ball handling in the rain on a wet field is much the same as it is on grass, and the teams were constantly trading turnovers. There were eight in the first half, the Quakers killing off a Princeton drive by intercepting an aerial that halfback Romero Perkins threw into the end zone, and the Tigers stopping a Penn opportunity when they recovered a home team fumble on their seven.

The only score was Jon Bartges' 42 yard field goal — a massive boot that set a career mark for him and would have carried from 50 yards out. Penn's fumbling behind the line of scrimmage had pared its net yards rushing to two, and while the Tigers weren't exactly dominating the game, they were in control.

Their status on the scoreboard improved early in the third quarter when they drove 46 yards in nine plays, Perkins skirting right end for the final 13. Bartges converted and a 10-0 lead under playing conditions that constantly hobbled an uncertain offense seemed relatively safe.

It was not long thereafter that Penn coach Harry Gamble benched his starting quarterback, Tom Pinto, for senior Gary Shue, a left-handed passer who promptly began to thread the needle. His chance came following a fumble by Perkins, the fifth charged to the Tiger back in two weeks.

A dozen plays after he had been inserted into the game, Shue had hung a touchdown on the board for Penn, completing four passes in a row in a drive that covered 56 yards. Aware that he had something going, he threw another pass to sophomore back Adolph Bellizeare for a two-point conversion.

The Tigers stalled out after a kickoff, punted to their 1[illegible] rod that set the stage on which Penn moved a third-string quarterback, a reserve flanker, a rarely used tight end and a sophomore who some wasn't among the first 70 players on the squad. the first time in league history.

FINAL GAME FRIDAY

PDS Hopes for 5th Win. Already assured of a winning season, a dramatic reversal of last year's disastrous 1-7 mark, the Princeton Day football team will seek to end with another victory this Friday against MacArthur Military Academy. Game time is 2:30.

Raising their record to 4-2 last week with a 28-0 rout of Gill-St. Bernard's, the Panthers will hope for a repeat win over MacArthur, the only team they beat last year.

While the Blue and White has, of course, come a long way from last fall, MacArthur, too, will field a much stronger team. The closing of two military schools, BMI and another in Baltimore, brought many transfer students to MacArthur to bolster its sagging athletic fortunes.

It will also carry a 4-2 mark into the game, after routing Croydon Hall last week with about the same ease as PDS did earlier in the season.

It is by no means definite yet, but first string quarterback Dave Wagenseil is expected back in the line-up after sitting out the St. Bernard's game. He injured a leg in the second period of the Wardlaw contest.

However, two-way guard Doug Robinson will miss Friday's finale, because of a broken collarbone suffered in the third period against St. Bernard's.

Hamid, Martin Sparkle. Sparkling performances by Tim Hamid and Bill Martin on both offense and defense gave PDS all the offense it needed in the victory over St. Bernard's.

Hamid, running from the tailback slot, and Martin, going at fullback, each gained over 100 yards in the rout. Three times Hamid's runs put the Blue and White in scoring position, and Martin bulled over for the scores. The fourth PDS touchdown came on an 85-yard breakaway run by Martin.

Martin also got one two-point conversion in the game. The other successful conversion came on a pass from reserve quarterback Bill Baggitt to receiver Frank Konstantynowicz, who picked the ball off the grass for the score.

PDS took the ball deep into St. Bernard's territory the first time it got it, only to be pushed back by a series of penalties. Late in the period, with the visitors keying on Martin, who had been chewing up the line, Hamid carried three times for 45 yards, setting up Martin's first score.

Martin's long sprint came midway in the second period. Hit low at the scrimmage line, he fell forward, somehow got his feet back under him and raced past two safeties into the end zone. Half time score was 16-0.

The Saints' deepest penetration came in the third period, when they went to the PDS twenty, fumbled it away, then immediately recovered a Panther fumble. The PDS defense, tough all day, tightened up and held. Later in the third period, after another Martin score, Hamid, playing cornerback, cut off a certain touchdown with a knockdown of a long pass.

Defensive standouts were Martin, Hamid, Co-Captains Roger Williams and Dan Blum.

HUN TO TRY AGAIN

Against Pingry Friday. The ... being game for the Hun football season last week ended on a distressingly familiar note for the once proud Red and Black. Hun lost its fifth in sixth start, as Peddie won 26-14, on the strength of R... Capro's four touchdowns.

Two games remain. Hun will be at Pingry Friday for a 2:45 contest and end its season at Princeton High School the following week. Normally, Pingry would present Hun with little more than a workout; this year it is another tough game for coach Dave Leete's convalescing squad.

"We just couldn't stop their running, and then they connected on a couple of long passes," commented Leete on the Peddie defeat. Capro scored on runs of 13 and 3 yards and on TD passes of 43 and 11 yards from quarterback Rick Knowles. Peddie (3-3) led at the half 18-0.

A couple of sophomore reserves combined for Hun's first score in the third period as Ben McHugh passed to end Kevin Rafalak for a 53 yard scoring play. McHugh ...

who played part of the third quarter and all of the last, then passed to Tony Trani for the two-point conversion. Rafalski is the younger brother of Greg Rafalski, the team's leading rusher.

In the final period Scott Killary intercepted a Peddle pass and returned it 40 yards for six points. Leete again cited co-captain Bill Mills for playing the steadiest ball for Hun. Mills is a guard on offense and a linebacker on defense, and plays both positions exceedingly well.

RUG MART, U-STORE WIN

In Midget Football. Undefeated Rug & Furniture Mart and once-defeated Princeton U-Store both won last week in the Midget Football League. Both teams scored 12-0 victories in the mud at the Princeton High School field.

After three scoreless periods, Rug Mart's Huw Brooks broke open the game with Fuel Oil on touchdown runs of 39 and 37 yards. In all, Brooks rushed for 86 yards on 11 carries, while teammate Kevin Berotne added 30 yards in 10 attempts.

Defensive standouts were Andy Longman, Jack Budd and Robert MacAvema for Fuel Oil and Chris Cahill, Brooks and Bertone for Rug Mart. The latter is now 4-0 Fuel Oil is 0-3-1.

U-Store scored on a 19-yard pass play from Kim Beasley to Tommy Ferguson in the third quarter and on a 30-yard end sweep by Beasley in the final period. The victim was Nassau Conover, 0-3-1.

Excelling on dfeense were Fred Smagorinsky, John Krystaponis and Robert Wells for the losers and Michael Davis, Bill Schmiedeskamp and Paco Irby for U-Store. Davis was credited with 10 tackles. For the second week in a row, Rod Taylor recovered a fumble for Nassau Conover.

J. P. CLEAVER WINS

Sibson, Too, in Midget Football. J. P. Cleaver blanked Peterson Construction, 12-0, and Sibson & Co. defeated Hilton Realty, 12-6, last week in games played Saturday morning at Community Park.

Cleaver scored both its TDs in the second period as Dave Fitzgerald returned an intercepted pass and Bob Little went over from five yards out. Rick Miller, Jeff Rasner and Little led the Cleaver defense. Jerry Mayer, Tom Linn and Woody Clark played hard on defense trying to contain Cleaver.

Sibson scored the game's first touchdown in the second quarter on a 35-yard run by Dave Miller. Miller then passed to Bob Taylor for the game winning TD. Hilton got on the scoreboard in the final period when Ed Kennedy went over. A 60-yard romp by Steve Budd had set up the score.

John Sapoch, Taylor Miller and Mike Kenred were strong for Sibson on defense. Jimmy Dean, Jake Nunez and Tim Tejcicherowicz led for Hilton defense.

In games played a week earlier, Cleaver defeated Sibson 9-0, and First National Bank shutout Peterson, 7-0.

Jim Rosenburg scored for Cleaver on a 39-yard run and then combined with Adam Berman to tackle a Sibson runner for a safety to account for all nine Cleaver points. A pass from quarterback Jon Miller to Jim Mack produced the only score in the victory by First National.

3 PLAY PHS WIN

Little Tigers vs. Steinert Next. Those who were under the impression it rained all day Saturday are wrong. The sun broke through for a few brief seconds over the Princeton High School football field.

It occurred with just 54 seconds left in the PHS-Pingry Amboy game when John Mooney passed to Bob Zimmermeister for the only touchdown in the game and gave the Little Tigers a 7-2 victory. The play covered 11 yards.

The sun never did shine of course, but you would have had a hard time convincing the delirious Little Tigers. Forgetting with one swipe of Mooney's arm was the rain and mud and 45 minutes of utter frustration in which the Blue and White had failed to complete a single pass.

The Tigers bounced the Little Tigers way this time. Instead of a 2-4 record the Blue and White is all even again at 3-3. More important, it now has a better than average chance of ending with a winning season.

A week from now, PHS will play Hun School which is having all kinds of problems this season, having won only one game. It will end its season against Trenton High which has yet to win this year. A PHS win is likely in both.

The "iffy" contest in Saturday's clash with Steinert at 1:30 on the Spartan's home field. In its last start, Steinert blanked Trenton, 18-0.

Steinert Coming On. Steinert has been an up and down team this season, although it seems finally to have solved some of its problems. The Trenton win was its third in a row.

"They have the personnel no question, but they have had trouble with their offense. D fensively, they're strong," commented Wood on Steinert. To a large degree, the same assessment could be made of the Little Tigers, so it should prove to be an interesting contest.

Steinert appears to have the edge on defense. It has blanked four opponents this season, limiting the punchless Trenton eleven to one first down. PHS, on the other hand, has been brilliant in spots on defense but gives up the big play too often.

And if Steinert is having problems with the offense, PHS has, too. Although Wood was happy with the victory over Perth Amboy, his first comments after the game expressed his concern over the lack of an attack. "I thought we had some things ironed out," he said shaking his head.

Dismal, All But the End. It was a dismal game here against visiting Perth Amboy. It rained throughout. Sloppy field conditions made the contest just slightly more interesting than watching grass grow. And until that final minute, it looked as if the outcome for PHS was going to be just as dismal.

Oddly enough, PHS might be wishing for more rain in future games. All three of its victories—Ewing, St. Anthony and Perth Amboy—have come during the rain. It has yet to win on a dry field.

The game developed early into a kicking duel between Ron Campbell of PHS and the Panthers' Harry Arevelo. Both were outstanding.

Perth Amboy scored its only points in the second quarter, following an Arevelo punt that sailed over safetyman Dave Black's head and rolled to the PHS seven. On a fourth and 12 from the four, Greg Kline was tackled in the end zone by Ron Mazolic for a safety.

PHS nearly came right back when Craig Carlton intercepted a Perth Amboy pass around the 20 and returned it some 60 yards to the 20. However, PHS was detected clipping right after the interception and the ball was brought back to the PHS five. End of threat.

During the first half, Perth Amboy gained two first downs, PHS one. Neither team had a first down in the second quarter. PHS's offense was zero—0 for 4 passing and minus 11 yards rushing.

Princeton's only other opportunity came at the start of the second half. Carlton returned the kickoff to the 44. Kline's long forward fumble was recovered by teammate Dave Cowan on the 38 for an 18-yard advance.

Then, using some plays resurrected from its old single wing attack, PHS drove downfield with fullback Bob Weisbecker doing most of the gaining. Kline ran for a first down to the 14.

Weisbecker got three but then two running plays lost five yards. Kline's first pass of the half to Carlton was no good and the visitors took over. Its passing game cut off, PHS had no success whatsoever trying to run against three big Perth Amboy tackles, Cliff Winfield, 6-3, 260; Ron Mazolic, 5-10, 200 and Wilson Santiago, 5-11, 215. Winfield was outstanding.

Carlton started the final period for PHS with his second interception. This opportunity evaporated seven plays later when Mooney, in for the first time on a fourth and seven from the 43, fumbled the snap.

Questionable Call. The game wound down until with 2:35 remaining Campbell punted to midfield. All Perth Amboy had to do was eat up the clock but a couple of plays later, reserve quarterback Wayne Burgen, on a questionable call, tried to pass. It was picked off by Black. When Perth Amboy was whistled for a personal foul after the interception, the ball was placed on the 41. PHS had 1:20 left.

Mooney's second pass to Tom Hedgesang was incomplete. That brought the count to 0 for 10 for PHS in the air. On the next play, Mooney threw straight down field to Zinsmeister. The ball was dead on target, but he was surrounded by three Perth Amboy defenders.

Somehow, Zinsmeister, who leads the team in scoring now with five TDs, managed to wrestle the ball into his arms and sped away from the fallen defenders to the goal line some 10 yards away. As Zinsmeister held the ball high over head, his teammates exploded with joy.

For the Perth Amboy players on the field disbelief. Some threw their helmets on the ground in disgust. "We played it exactly right," Panther coach Bill Gatyas told Wood after the game. "We had him sandwiched in but your boy just made a remarkable catch." It was indeed.

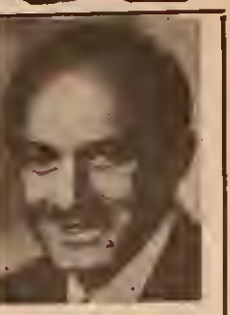
Meet The American Party Replacement For George Wallace
CONGRESSMAN



JOHN G. SCHMITZ
For President
The American Party Believes—

1. Never go to war unless you intend to win.
2. Those who work ought to live better than those who will not.
3. Stop all aid to and trade with Communist Governments that supply arms to North Vietnam.
4. Against all gun control laws (when guns are outlawed only outlaws will have guns!)
5. No forced busing for any purpose.
6. Against abortion.
7. Remove earnings limitation of 62-years and over for people on Social Security.
8. Support the present anti-Communist governments of Greece and Rhodesia.
9. Freeze government spending—not wages and prices. Government creates inflation by deficit spending.
10. Most hard drugs in the U.S. originate in the poppy fields of Red China. We deplore President Nixon's failure to take any meaningful action to stop the flow of hard drugs from Red China to the U.S. and pledge our full support to stop this assault on our American youth.

The Schmitz-Anderson Ticket gives you a choice against two echoes. Break the blackout of silence in the Media on the American Party Candidates. Howard Freund is our candidate for U.S. Senator. When a party forces you to compromise your principles, it's time for a new party. We need workers and contributions. Mr. Carpi is accused of the murder of his wife, who disappeared from her rented State Road home on February 8, 1971. Her body surfaced four months later in the East River in New York City. She had been shot in the back of the head.

FOUR ARE FINED

For Careless Driving. Four Princeton area residents were fined Monday by Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr. in Borough court for careless driving.

They are G. K. Ratliff, 28, 60 Leigh Avenue; Marilyn Fu, 30, 12 Ziff Lane, Princeton Junction; Douglas M. Kabay, 23, 28 Witherspoon Street; and Francois Rieumaithol, 39, 217 Harrison Street. Each was fined $15. Eva K. Suzuki, 34, 42 Oak Branch Road, Cranbury, paid $15 for a stop sign violation.

POS GOES ORIENTAL FOR SCHOLARSHIPS: Huge Chinese kites will set the motif for the Princeton Day School Dinner Dance Saturday. Sophomores Greg Bosh (left) and Grayson Ferrante help hoist a kite, as co-chairman Mrs. Thomas H. Paine and Mrs. Robert J. Barton, co-creator of the kites, supervise. Proceeds will go to the school's scholarship endowment fund.

Students to Conduct Poll

Prank call? Not this time! The sixth grade students of the Parsons-Powell House in the Princeton Regional Middle School are conducting a telephone poll of the Borough and Township. They are interested in learning the opinions of their community regarding the national, state and local elections as well as some of the current issues.

The students have taken a random sampling of 500 names from the voting registries. They will be calling this Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights. Mr. John O. Davies of Gallup Poll spoke with the class outlining the purpose of a poll and the importance of taking accurate samplings and information.

The results will be compiled next week. The students ask, "May we please have your cooperation?"

TOUCH FOOTBALL ON TAP

Planned to Aid McGovern. West Windsor Citizens for McGovern-Shriver will mark the final weekend before the election with a touch football game on Saturday. Play will begin at 1 at Van Ness Park, near Grovers Mill pond, in West Windsor.

Each player will contribute $1, and everyone is welcome. Groups of seminarians, students and suburbanites are planning to participate. For more information call Tina Cahill, 799-2442, or Andree Marks, 452-9359.

LITE-A-BIKE PROGRAM

Borough Police Are Sponsor. To provide a higher degree of safety for cyclists during the shortened daylight hours ahead, the Borough police department is sponsoring a "Lite-A-Bike" program.

A Scotchlite relective tape cycle safety kit containing 12 pieces of reflective tape will be applied to the bike's handlebars, pedals and forks by the police. There are also pieces of triangular-shaped tape to attach to the cyclists clothing. There is no charge. Police are bearing the cost, said Chief Michael Carnevale.

The program will be held the week of November 13 at the Borough gym behind Borough Hall. Hours will be 3 to 6 on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday; 2-6 on Wednesday and 9 to 12 noon on Saturday.

Police will be assisted by young workers from Hi-Y clubs at the Princeton YMCA. "We feel confident, Chief Carnevale said," that cyclists who participate will provide themselves and motorists with a degree of safety not now available in Princeton."

HOLIDAY BAZAAR SET

By Red Cross Youth. On Saturday, November 18, Red Cross Youth of the Princeton Red Cross will hold a Holiday Bazaar at Lloyd Terrace Recreation Center in conjunction with the senior citizens of the Princeton area.

All the handicrafts sold at the Bazaar are being made by senior citizens, many of whom live at Lloyd Terrace, and by members of Red Cross Youth. Materials are being furnished to those who participate from the Red Cross Youth Service Fund.

Proceeds will then go back to this fund, which is a separate fund not budgeted by the Red Cross Chapter. All the money in the fund is used by Red Cross Youth for its many programs with the elderly, physically handicapped children, day care centers, nursing homes, the NJ Neuropsychiatric Institue, and many other needy people and institutions.

Items being made for the Bazaar include many hand kintted and crocheted items such as afghans, pillows, and aprons. There will also be a large selection of baked goods. Anyone who could help or wishing further information should contact Red Cross Youth at 924-2401

Perth Amboy, like PHS had entered the game with a 2-3 record. Steve Koop of PHS made some fine plays from his defensive safetyman position early in the game.

Linebacker Jack Bayer did not suit up for the game. Probably the most hard-nosed player on the PHS squad, Bayer was sidelined by a hip injury sustained in the Bridgewater-Raritan game. He is expected to be ready for Stewart.

PHS In State Tournament

The Princeton High School soccer team, presently 6-5-1 following a 2-0 loss to undefeated Princeton Day School Monday, has earned a berth in the annual NJSIAA tournament. It is the first time a PHS soccer team has made it to the state event.

Two games remain on the schedule: Trenton High this Wednesday and the finale with Hun on Tuesday. Earlier, the team blanked Peddie, 2-0, on goals by Dudley Woodbridge, and Henry Pratti.

Woodbridge leads the team in scoring with six goals, followed by Pratti who has four. The squad is captained by Bernie Shanfield and Chris Bauman. Mel Jones, in his first year, is coach.

the middle. Hun (4-2) scored on a 45-yard pass from Bob McHugh to Andy Fertig.

PHS, with two games left (Peddie and St. Anthony's) is now 4-0-1. The Little Tigers are also coached by Don Cartwright.

PDS STILL UNDEFEATED

In Soccer. Registering a pair of shutouts over Solebury and Princeton High School, the Princeton Day soccer team retained its unbeaten status this week, while raising its season's mark to 9-0-1.

In a fairly tough battle with the high school, the Panthers counted with a couple of third period goals for all the scoring in the contest, winning 2-0. Outside right Evan Bash scored on a pass from inside right Duncan Martin and with two seconds left in the period, Martin tallied on a pass from halfback Greg Bash. The Little Tigers' mark fell to 6-5-1.

Last Wednesday, Greg Bash hit the nets on a pass from Art Levy with just two minutes gone in the opening period and the Blue and White made it stand up the rest of the way for a 1-0 defeat of Solebury. Buzz Woodworth excelled in the goal for PDS.

HAC, IVY LOSE

In Flag Football. Ivy Inn was beaten and Harrison Athletic Club forfeited its game last Sunday, making for a rather bleak day for the Princeton teams in the Mercer County Flag football league.

Ivy bowed to Joe and Lena's 20-6, the loss all but eliminating it from any chance of making the post season playoffs. Ivy still has a mathematical chance to make the fourth playoff spot, but it would have to win both its remaining games, while the two teams above it lost both of theirs.

Ivy's lone score came on a 40-yard aerial from Charlie Tantum to Bill Bartolino.

HAC, which saw its playoff hopes go up in smoke several Sundays ago, lost its sixth game on a forfeit. A mix up on Sunday morning found the players' at the field, but without their flags, a necessary part of the equipment. A rush back to get them proved to be a few minutes too late under the 15 minute waiting period prescribed by the rules.

Candlelight Lounge, which was upset by HAC last year, gladly accepted the forfeit and moved into first place. In other action, Mott AC upset Old Smugglers, 14-6, and Ewing Giants were beaten by Three Seasons 6-0.

This Sunday HAC will try and salvage something when it meets Ivy in the third annual Princeton Bowl at 10:45 a.m. on the field behind the Shopping Center.

The standings:

	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
Candlelite	5	1	1	11
Jo Jo's	4	0	2	10
Joe & Lena	4	1	1	9
3 Seasons	4	2	0	8
Ewing	3	2	1	7
Ivy	2	3	1	5
Smugglers	1	5	0	2
Mott AC	1	5	0	2

An Open Letter To Princeton Voters

On November 7 I plan to vote for George McGovern for President because I think he's the best man. He will bring to the office qualities needed but now lacking in The President (formerly known as Richard Nixon).

McGovern is concerned about people—all people—and how this country treats them. He's concerned about: the cost of living; high unemployment, the unequal tax burden; the environment. Whereas Nixon sees no need for tax reform; has done little to decrease unemployment; and just vetoed a bill to clean up our rivers, lakes and streams. (Fortunately Congress overturned his veto.)

A concern for humane justice motivates George McGovern, also a concern for our basic rights under the Constitution and Bill of Rights. Nixon hands out hardware for dealing with crime. His Justice Department pleads the right to listen indiscriminately to telephone and other conversations—yours and mine. Nixon's employees working for his re-election attempt to rob his opponent's offices. Watergate wasn't a cute political trick—it was a crime—alleged breaking and entering and attempted theft. Law and order—for whom?

Peace in Viet Nam has been more than a campaign slogan to George McGovern. Along with all of us who have for so long opposed this tragic war, he must rejoice that peace may at last have come. There will be many who question whether a peace agreement acceptable to Hanoi and Washington might not have been negotiated much sooner than a week before the election. A moot question.

What is not moot is the issue of leadership after the war. In George McGovern's words, "As the war ends we need a government that is able to provide a decent, fulfilling job for every man and woman in this country who is able to work. We need a President ready to move from the waste of war to the works of peace."

The works of peace require a man who has faith in the people—faith to meet us, talk with us, listen to us. We do not need a man who hides from us, seems to fear us and to encourage our fears of each other. The spectre of hatred, fear and bigotry was all too evident this past week in Brooklyn. It will be a wasted peace if we return from fighting in Asia only to war against each other at home. I think George McGovern is far more capable of bringing peace to America than is Richard Nixon.

We need capable leadership at all levels of government. And locally we also have excellent candidates. Fred Bohen will bring to Congress a working knowledge of how the House of Representatives functions. He worked as a White House aide in the Johnson administration — concerned with open housing, educational opportunity, and government reorganization. He has some good ideas for reforming the House to make it function better. Since the primary Fred has studied and travelled the 5th District and listened to the voters. He knows our concerns—high property taxes, poor transportation facilities, severe unemployment—and he will work with and for us to help solve these problems.

Joe Tighue and John Watson have both served Mercer County well as Freeholders. We need them to continue the educational improvements exemplified by Mercer County Community College and the County Vocational Training School. We need them to work toward a more humane penal system than currently exists in the County workhouse. We need them to have effective County government.

As a Borough resident I will vote for Bob Powell and Barbara Sigmund. They have met many of you by now. You know of their concerns and plans for better transportation, public health standards, parks and recreation. As private citizens they have served well through their work in consumer protection and teaching. They can serve better if elected to Borough Council.

As a citizen of the Princeton community I have come to know Abbot Moffat and Bill Sulphin. They have worked hard on Township Boards trying to effectively plan for the burgeoning growth occurring in their community. They will be more effective if elected to Township Committee.

I hope you will join me and vote Democratic November 7.

DANCE THIS SATURDAY

To Benefit PDS Fund. "Double" probably doesn't translate into Chinese, but the Princeton Day School Dinner Dance Saturday night featuring a Chinese motif, will produce double contributions to the school's scholarship endowment.

In the midst of a flurry of last minute preparations, Co-Chairman Mrs. Thomas H. Palne points out that the contribution proceeds from this year's dance will be matched, dollar for dollar, by a $40,000 grant from a New York foundation.

The dinner dance will take place in the dining room and gymnasium of the school. Huge Chinese kites, designed and made by Co-Chairman Mrs. Huson Gregory and Mrs. Robert J. Barton, will fly from the gym ceiling. Tables will be topped by bouquets of chrysanthemums, among the oldest of Chinese flowers.

Preceded by a score of PDS family cocktail parties, the filet of beef buffet dinner will begin at 8:30 p.m. Dancing to the music of Bill Halfacre begins at 9 p.m.

The gift matchmaker who promises to double the fund for scholarship endowment is the Edward E. Ford Foundation, which made its challenge grant to help the school kick off its $1,500,000 scholarship endowment drive.

RESULTS ANNOUNCED

For Recycling Questionnaire. Township residents want recycling of metal cans, while Borough people would be delighted to have recycling of brown glass and magazines, according to results of the questionnaire put out by the Conservation Coalition.

A surprising number of questionnaires were returned to the Coalition office with the problem of metal, brown glass, and magazines being foremost. Many Princeton people have already formed a sort of "consolidation", as far as recycling is concerned with Township recyclers trading their metal cans for the brown glass and magazines of Borough friends. This is not an ideal solution, but for the time being it works.

Not surprisingly, all the questionnaires reflected an enthusiastic and encouraging attitude. The very real question of Borough garbage collection after Monday holidays was mentioned, and some answer will have to be found.

There were some interesting side lights. Two people suggested that the recycling schedule should be printed in the papers each week. It is, and has been since the beginning of the program. Both TOWN TOPICS and the PACKET have been extremely cooperative, the Coalition stated.

In another instance, four different families on one rather short street wrote in to say that they themselves were recycling but none of their neighbors were.

Another concern was the need for more publicity and the Coalition is searching its collective imagination for ideas. Word of mouth is often the most effective campaign, especially in a town like Princeton which has a rather high number of newcomers.

Until the Coalition can think of something spectacular in the way of advertising, it urges those people who are cooperating with the recycling program to find a family which is not doing so and convert that family to a cleaner and less wasteful way of life.

Want a Job?

Borough Hall, fast becoming the local employment agency for people who don't want a salary, has another volunteer job open.

William Cirullo is resigning from the Recreation Commission for a reason that is becoming almost commonplace: he's moving into the Township. The Borough needs a replacement. Applicants must be Borough residents, over 18 years of age. Send applications to Borough Hall.

Vacancies still exist on Traffic Safety and Police Advisory Committees, Planning, Zoning and Welfare Boards. Mayor Robert W. Cawley said this week that he's had two applications.

40% MARK REACHED

By United Fund. James T. Robson, Campaign Chairman of the United Community Fund has reported that the fund raising effort had reached $228,717 which is approximately 40 percent of the goal of $600,000.

The largest sources of income to date are the Special Gifts Division, co-chaired by Mrs. J. Richardson Dilworth, Mrs. Robert F. Goheen and John Hoff with $95,753, the Research and Industry Division co-chaired by Maurice Duggan and Mark Born with $83,191 and Princeton University having reached $19,331. Michael Mahoney is the Fund's Chairman at the University.

In addition the F[illegible] Neighborhood Division has reached $20,[illegible].

The vice president for the various neighborhoods comprising the United Fund Area are: Albert Keer for Cranbury, East Windsor, Plainsboro, and Hightstown; Lester Luck Jr. for Franklin Township, South Brunswick and Kingston; Mrs. J. Richardson Dilworth for Princeton and Lawrenceville; Webster Baker for Hopewell; Albert Lat[illegible] for Montgomery Township and Rocky Hill and Michael Grechak for West Windsor.

HOT LINE INSTALLED

By West Windsor Democrats. A new twist to a familiar political technique has been added by Democrats in West Windsor Township.

While still using campaign workers to telephone prospective voters, the West Windsor Democratic Club has a new "hotline" telephone where voters can interrogate their candidate.

Small red stickers, suitable for pasting on a home phone have been distributed to West Windsor households by the Democrats. It lists the Township's emergency number for fire, police and ambulance at 799-1222, and it also includes a special number 799-1619 for Township Committee candidate Alan Stutz.

Mr. Stutz is seeking to replace Theodore A. Peck, the lone Democrat on the West Windsor Committee. Mr. Peck announced last spring he would not seek re-election.

The idea for the hotline developed when the West Windsor Democrats began registering new voters this summer. "Many told us that when they phoned Township Hall, only a clerk answered," Mr. Stutz says. "They wanted to know when proposed developments were scheduled for hearing and no one would tell them."

"Many new homeowners want to know what local government can do to make a developer fulfill his commitments," Stutz says.

Mr. Stutz adds, "Concerned citizens have to be able to communicate with people in public office."

SOME PEOPLE GO IN FOR FLOWERS

IN A BIG WAY!

DON ALLEN IS ONE OF THEM

In some long forgotten, musty old class prophesy it is written "Don Allen—most likely to go somewhere." Now it didn't say "to be successful," or "to be rich" or "to be famous"—just "go somewhere." Well so far it's mainly been New York City or Philadelphia, but that's "somewhere" all the same.

For some people New York City is the "Big Apple," to others Philadelphia is the end of the world. To be sure they are two distinctly different cities and I see them with amazing regularity—although I tend to view them in a context not shared by most people—somewhere between four and six o'clock in the morning.

That's when the bloom is on the wholesale flower markets—and having a "49'er" breakfast on 6th Avenue at 5 A.M can seem like the most natural thing in the world. Sometimes I pause at the corner of 28th Street and survey this early morning madness. Parked trucks and cars clog six lanes on 6th Avenue leaving only two lanes open for thru traffic. Screeching and horn blowing, punctuated by curses in every language are the norm. How, you wonder, can this market continue to function under such wretched conditions. Yet, little has changed in the 23 years I've known it.

You looked at your hands on the steering wheel this morning. They looked older, somehow. You think back on a quarter of a century and the things that have happened to you on the road. The time you ran out of fuel on Route 130 at 5 A.M. and of the cook who gave you a lift for gas. The time your transmission broke down on Arch Street and how you phoned "Bart" at Princeton Airport and how he came right down and flew you home by 7 o'clock. You remember dropping a drive shaft on the Roosevelt Boulevard and the day you let fly a muffler on the busy New Jersey Turnpike.

It all seems so very unlikely. What are you trying to prove, Allen, you lecture yourself. Hell, you're just a florist — only a florist.

Yet I have spent most of my adult life under this self imposed regimen — this driving 100 miles before breakfast and while it is a lifestyle unrued by most, for me it has been a labor of love. We are able to stock, (in a town of 2200) a selection of flowers usually only found in fashionable Park Avenue Shops, or Philadelphia's Main Line Flowers wildly out of season — like French Lilac at Christmas — or Dutch Iris right now.

You march to a different drum than most men — and in your heart you know why. It's your customers that keep you going. They are delighted with the selection — they tell you how long your fresh flowers last — they make you feel good, and you forget for a little while how tired you really are.

Sometimes I tell stories about my experiences at market and about some of the characters I know — and somehow I think it all sounds a little glamorous — these trips, these early morning stories.

But I ask you, what is so glamorous about having to go to bed by 8 o'clock every night?

UNIQUE PRINCETON COLONIAL

A great Princeton house is not a home unless there is something especially unique about it to give it warmth. Perhaps, it's a double living room with fireplace, or a great central foyer, or a wide angle bay dining room flooded with light. Or, perhaps, it's the informality of a rustic kitchen family room that conveys a sense of being lived in especially during the winter. Five huge bedrooms and two baths on the second floor can accommodate a large family and just maybe two little girls would like to make the third floor two bedrooms into a real doll house. Come see a great Princeton colonial in the middle of town.

CONVENIENT WINDSOR RANCH

This almost new West Windsor rancher is situated in a very convenient spot: close to Princeton University yet only a short distance from the Metroliner and New York (a 55 minute commute). The exceptionally large living room with dining area and the rustic beamed kitchen with family room provide wide open relaxed contemporary living space. In the bedroom wing are a full master suite and two other generous children's bedrooms. Central air conditioning, a big full basement and a nice young neighborhood full of children. Keep your promise to her by living somewhere special.

ALMOST IN PRINCETON

If you're tired of commuting and not living somewhere special, come live a little over a mile away from Princeton University in the Penns Neck area. This three bedroom brick and cedar shake ranch with fireplace in the living room and your own master bedroom suite will make a lot of sense when you see it. There's plenty of closet space and an eat-in kitchen that's big enough to use as a family room for the younger children. Go to the football games and dine out or window shop in historic Princeton.

A TOUCH OF CREOLE AT 9 FAIRWAY DRIVE!

In Princeton's choice Brookstone area rests with dignity a white brick and shake colonial with a wrought iron balcony to remind one of the gracious days of yore! Built 14 years ago (when plaster walls were just becoming a luxury), the entire interior reflects the good quality not to be found too often nowadays.

Space is evident everywhere but especially in the 17'x29' front-to-back living room with large windows at each end and a gas-burning, log fireplace. Comfortable dining room, panelled study, screened porch, efficient kitchen with dining area, utility room, and powder room round off the first floor. Upstairs features four corner bedrooms, one a master with dressing area and bath, a hall bath, and oops . . . there's a separate staircase leading to an entire suite of bedroom and bath (perfect for in-laws, teenagers, or a maid, if there's one around!) The basement has lots of possibilities, including a dark room panelled bar and recreation area. Two acres in all with a fenced almost-new Sylvan swimming pool nestled in the woods. Lots of trees and privacy. $130,000
